It has been said before that the destination is not nearly as important as the journey. We often hear how important it is to set goals and have dreams but when it is all said and done, we learn and grow as individuals through hard work, effort and dedication. Our journey is comprised of the sleepless nights spent studying, the early mornings and late afternoons at practice and of course, the friends we make along the way. Each of our own journeys are as unique and personal as the people walking them. Whether you play a sport, compete on an academic team, perform in a play or stay focused on your studies, our journeys have grown to incorporate so many aspects of our lives, both academic and non-academic. This book is a culmination of all of our stories. For some, the journey has just begun and for others it is coming to a close, but together these memories make up Lowell High School and add one more chapter to Red Devil history.

Beginning our Journey

1. Sarah Richardson (10) glazes the ceramic pot that she sculpted by hand. Ceramics was a popular class where students used their imagination to advance their creativity. 2. Seniors Teagan Murphy and Robert Rose play the marimba during musical warm-ups before showtime. Both members participated in marching band all four years of high school. 3. A group of students work together on a project in the Little Theater. Group projects were a main focus of New Tech 4. Jacob Sankowski (11) takes a picture with Mrs. Opat since she will be retiring at the end of the school year. This was Mrs. Opat's 18th year of teaching.

Cheering at the big game, dancing the night away on a special night, creating art, learning lines for the Shakespeare Fest, starting new traditions, the excitement of winning items in class and shaving heads bald for a good cause were just some of the highlights and traditions LHS continued during the school year. Beyond homework and grades, our student body prided itself on an unbreakable spirit and the all encompassing Red Devil Pride. Together we have rode the highest of highs and endured the lowest of lows and through it all, we challenged each other to always move forward on our journey.

1. Students from Dramatic Literature act out a dinner scene from Titus Andronicus Act V Scene III. Students had to practice, memorize lines and perform scenes for classes that attended the Shakespeare Fest. 2. Students from the Interactive English class created iBooks about thematic ideas in Romeo and Juliet. The best iBook creators were entered into a drawing to win their own graphics card. 3. Rafael Moreno Rodriguez (10) and Carlos Vazquez (9) decorate a tree for the Chamber of Commerce holiday fundraiser. Their tree was sponsored by the English Language Learners class. 4. Bree Prigge (10) and Kelli Nuccio (11) help each other during Advanced Painting class. They were learning how to stretch their own canvases.

SUMMER

Summer is usually every kids favorite time of year. The last day of school usually triggers a few months of fun. You spent the summer getting that summer bod and lost every care in the world that you once had. Those relaxing summer days at the beach or those cherished summer nights by the bonfire laughing with friends Then, before you knew it, the back to school commercials were on and you were being suffocated with a list of school supplies to buy. As the break came to an end and the tan lines started to fade, you got ready to go back to school. Although it was just another short break, your parents knew that you would do great on another journey through your first and final years of high school.

4. Briana Crouse (11) and Gianna Groebher (11) enjoy their time at Raccoon Lake. They have been best friends since Preschool. 5. Ryleigh Tully (12), Kendal Torrence (12), and Morgan Hickey (12) spend their afternoon at the lakefront in Chicago. They were excited to have a day of shopping in the Windy City.

6. Hunter Shepard (12) relaxes at the Dunes with a friend. They spent the morning shopping before ending it with a relaxing time on the beach. 7. Kaitlyn Barnett (12) poses for a picture with her family across from South Beach. They had a great weekend of fun in the sun. 8. Avery Johnson (10) gets ready to go on a boating tour with her grandparents. She spent a week in the Bahamas.

PUTTING our BEST FOOT FORWARD

Under a new director, The Lowell Marching Red Devils kept their horn angles high and their eyes filled with pride as they pushed their new marching and musical limits. These musicians were taught the importance of teamwork all year long. The band members realized that if there was no cooperation and appreciation for each other's efforts, the progress made would be meaningless. Through the good, the bad, the hot and sweaty or the cold and rainy, the team came together for some truly breath taking moments. These moments gave the team high hopes as they performed their show "Spy Games." All of the hard work paid off as the marching Red Devils had a record breaking season. Weekend after weekend, they blew opposing bands right off the field as they placed first in their class in every competition they attended. In October, the marchers attended the Scholastic Class A prelims at Homestead High School in Fort Wayne, Indiana. After a great performance, each member stood impatiently in the stands awaiting their rating. Receiving a "Gold" rating, The Lowell Marching Red Devils put their best foot forward as they marched their way to their first scholastic state competition in the school's history.

3. Jared Schoon (12) waits for the drum major to start the show. Jared gave his all during every performance. 4. Ryan Walkowiak (9) stands at attention as he awaits to start physical warm ups. Ryan enjoyed every moment of his first year as a mellophone.

1. Teagan Murphy (12) smiles as she runs through her part for the Scholastic Class A State performance. This was her most successful season. 2. Terra Kelley (12) plays her solo during the third movement of the show. All of her hard work paid off as she played her part perfectly.

5. Mackenzie Marcinek (12) keeps his horn angle high as he practices his part of the show. He caught the crowd's attention with his musical talent. 6. Jamie Reed (12) puts her best foot forward as she marches her way through the show. This was Jamie's first year marching on piccolo. 7. Senior Nathaniel Archer practices his solo during musical warm ups. He blew the judges away during the Scholastic Class A prelims performance. 8. Drum Major Maximilian Cherbak (11) stands in ready position awaiting to start the show. This was his second year as the LMRD drum major.

"A band is not proud because it performs well; A band performs well because it is proud"

-Cameron Skafish (12)

1. Juniors Cedric Caschetta and Jessica Mescal smile for a picture after she said yes to homecoming. He surprised her by making a poster collage from her pictures on Instagram. 2. The nominated Homecoming Court lines up on the sideline as a picture was taken to capture this moment. Seniors Madison Binder and Mitchell Sacco were pronounced the 2016 Homecoming King and Queen. 3. Madison Binder (12), Ryleigh Tully (12), and Kendal Torrence (12) take pictures before the dance. They had a great time with their dates. 4. Jacob Hale (12), Jacob Smalley (11), Donaven Henderson (12), and Evan Salomon (12) dressed their best for the dance. They went to the dance in the same group.

Dance the Night Away

When it comes to the Homecoming dance, mostly everyone seems to get excited. It's all about dressing up and looking your best, or at least better than you do at school. Homecoming marked the start of another school year and a night of guaranteed fun. It didn't matter if you went with a date or with a group of friends. Most people started the night taking pictures with their date or with their group of friends. Then came a full night of dancing, laughing, selfies, and singing on the dance floor.

"My favorite part about Homecoming is having a popular song come on and having the whole school scream the lyrics," said junior Cedric Caschetta. Homecoming was the perfect night to let loose and be free. Having the DJ play popular songs was the goal so everyone would get on the dance floor. Sophomore Avery Johnson said "I was so happy I was able to bring one of my friends from my old school. We had so much fun at the dance."

5. Avery Johnson (10) pins a rose boutineer on her date from another school. They were excited to capture the memories of Homecoming. 6. Sophomores Brittany Kish, Katelyn Dutro, Hayley Jenkins, and Sarah Richardson pose for a picture to show off their dresses. Their group got together to take pictures at a friends house before the dance. 7. Savannah Bevineau-Rock (10), Lizeth Olivares (10), and Michelle Harmston (10) pick the perfect background to take picture at This was a must before going to the dance.

Show your SPIRIT

pirit week, the one week to ress how you usually wouldn't r school. During spirit week, ne whole school dresses a rtain way. There are themes nosen each day of that special eek. Then it's up to the udents to show their school pirit. This year's themes where ajama day, patriotic day, frat day, favorite decade day, and RDP! Spirit week is held on the week leading up to the Homecoming dance. Spirit week gets the entire school pumped up for the big homecoming game and dance that weekend. Spirit week lets students show their school spirit, pride and creativity.

1. Senior Nicole Karm and Kathryn Leigh going back to the past on decade day. This was by far their favorite day of spirit week. 2. Sophomore Thomas Michalski give a thumbs up as he dressed up for Merica' day. Thomas was very patriotic as he wore his american flag shirt.

3. SophomoreKara Katic and Kaelyn Binkley dress up in their best 80's fashion for decade day. The girls had fun as they brought back neon colors and big hair. 4. With arms opened wide, Tyler Regan proudly stands to show his patriotic shirt. The American flag was the perfect touch to make his outfit the best. 5. Britney Rosenbrock (12), Abigail Lutgen (11), and Nicole Karm (12) pose together to represent frat day. They had fun dressing up for each of the different spirit days.

FROM little GIRLS TO young WOMEN

By: Laurin Cole

Lowell's Distinguished Young Women program has been around for the past 54 years. This program implements the power that women can have, and stresses how much their voice matters. Distinguished Young Women is an opportunity for senior girls to compete and have a chance at winning scholarship money for college. This years group of seniors consisted of Katherine Kennelly, Emily Crouch, Gretchen Kasper, Emily Sepko, Rebecca White, Teagan Murphy, Terra Kelley, and Jodie James. These girls practiced for six weeks prior to the competition. On an exciting day in September, they competed in various areas such as fitness, talent, self expression, scholastic, and interview. Katherine Kennelly won nine hundred dollars in scholarship money for the categories of spirit, self expression, and interview as well as being the second runner up overall. Emily Sepko also won over twelve hundred dollars in scholarships for talent and fitness while also winning first runner up overall. Jodie James was the big winner. She won over nineteen hundred dollars in scholarships for her best self, interview, self expression, scholastics and was awarded Lowell's 2016 Distinguished Young Women title.

1. The girls put their heels in for a picture. They could not wait to take them off. 2. DYW contestants gather together for a group picture. They had such a blast learning and growing together. 3. The Lil' Sisters line up on stage as they are announced. They cannot wait as they will be future contestants next year.

"The best part has been getting to spend time with the other girls in the program. I was already at least acquaintances with all the girls before we started, but now i can say that we are all at least friends, if not really good friends."

-Rebecca White (12)

The Lowell High School Theater Department put on "Our Town" for their fall play. All who attended were focused on the actors, costumes, set design, and lighting, which were all built on the hard work and dedication of the students. The production was a huge success as the audience found themselves enchanted from start to finish. When the curtains opened, the actors had the eyes of the audience members were glued to the stage . What the audience did not see were the people standing back stage. These crew members were not standing on set in the spotlight, they were the ones working it. The builders put the sets together, the designers set the stage, and the make up artists made sure not one hair was out of place on each actor. To give insight on what it was like for the theater members not in the spotlight, the question of just what is it like working behind the scenes, was asked. A backstage worker, Charles Braun (10) stated, "There are different people, with different opinions and views, but the more you work with them, the more you understand where they are coming from and what their vision is." Both cast and crew worked hard and created a play to remember.

1. Isabelle Gryczewski (10) practices makeup on herself. Her make up skills and hard work paid off during the shows. 2. Jacob Cummins (11), Bradley Cubit (12), and Theater Director Mallory Swisher all work hard to cut a trellis. This piece was used in part of the set. 3. Emma Kharchaf (9) allows the makeup crew to plan out looks on her. This was helpful to make each character appear the way they were supposed to. 4. Crew members work hard to create a stained glass window. This prop was key for the atmosphere of the church set.

The members of the Lowell High School Color Guard had one of their best seasons yet. They snuck around the marching field acting as spies. As the show went on, each guard members tried to figure out what was in the briefcase, which was presented at the final moments of the show. Along with the marching band, the color guard also obtained a new director. Koty Salyers took the position and soon announced that he had marched Drum Corps International in previous years. The color guard members were very excited to learn everything he had in store for them. They learned new spinning techniques, new ways of stretching, and new ways of counting. The new flag work was more challenging than in previous years. As the girls were pushed to new physical and spinning limits, their hard work and long hours were worth it in the end as they made it to ISSMA Scholastic State Finals for the first time ever in the LMRD history. Arriving at State Finals, the girls were very nervous about what was coming their way as it was a tad windy that night. The girls didn't let the wind get the best of them as they all performed their individual best and as the guard as a whole. All of the girls agree that this season was one to remember.

53 players, 1 heartbeat

It is often said that when you play football, you aren't playing for a team, you are playing for a brotherhood. Brotherhood is not something that is easily defined, but senior Austin Giordano does a good job of explaining what it means on a personal level. "Brotherhood to me is about a group of people who may have some differences but on the field they're a family. The brotherhood is all about the name on the front of the jersey not the back." It takes some time for that ideology to catch on and for the team to get in sync and find a rhythm, but as soon as the Red Devils did, they took off and never looked back turning a 0-2 start into a 9-5 season with a deep run to the Semi-State finales. The highlight of the season came when the Red Devils defeated their rivals the Hobart Brickies 44 - 23 in the Regional Championship game to advance to Semi-State. Capping off a season filled with highs and lows, this brotherhood showed unmatched determination that will be remembered for years to come.

WHAT THEY HAD TO SAY

"My favorite moment of the season was probably going to Franklin College camp because it was just a grind."

-Austin Spudic (11)

5. Jake Post (11) kicks the ball towards the opposing team with tenacity. He was the back up kicker on the team. 6. Running back Trevor Espravnik (12) forces his way through the defenders. With the help of his teammates, they scored the touchdown. 7. Jake Mitrisin (11) plows his way through the opponents. He was focused on the win.

1. Haley Penman (11) plays the game aggressively as she sets the ball to a teammate. She's been playing the sport for years and knows exactly how to intimidate the competition. 2. Seniors Jordin Page, Alexandria Collins, Joselyne Bobos, and Meagan Fitzgerald pose for a picture on Senior Night. They have all played for the past four years together. 3. Meagan Fitzgerald (12) jumps up to block the ball over the net. She helped the Red Devils to a victory over Highland. 4. Joselyne Bobos (12) prepares to serve the ball to the opposing team. She's been playing the sport for years and has shown a strong passion for it. 5. Madison Jusevitch (10) gets ready to serve the ball. This is her second year on the varsity team.

Spiking Their Way to Victory

The Lowell High School girls volleyball teams brought passion and aggression to the courts as they went up against other teams that tried to challenge them. The freshmen, junior varsity, and varsity teams did not take the sport lightly. They were competitive and driven to try their best each and every game from the minute they stepped onto the the court until the final whistle blew. With their strong spiking skills and extreme diving to get the ball over the net, it's hard to beat the ladies of Lowell. Tradition also drives these ladies and many on the team were inspired to take on the sport by family members. "My brother used to play volleyball, which was inspiring. We would always play the sport together when we were younger." said Morgan Iversen (11). A strong passion for the sport can be passed down at a young age or it can start by just a simple interest. No matter what the case is, these girls loved playing this season and will continue to show their love of volleyball for years to come.

6. The four varsity seniors pose for a senior volleyball picture in front of their banners. They held the trophy won from the Harrison Tournament at the end of the season. 7. Joselyne Bobos (12) passes the ball over the net in attempt to score a point for her team. She has been a key defensive player this year. 8. Hayley Penman (11) sets up for a kill with Cheyenne Riley (11). Every player had an important role to help the team beat Highland. 9. The varsity team celebrates on the court after taking a win for the team. They saw each other more as a family and not just teammates.

1. Adam Joseph (12) races against the clock as he sprints to the finish line at Semi-State. Adam placed 44th, being the crucial fifth man to score and help win the meet. 2. Teammates cheer on Colin Arndt (10) as he finishes the race. Colin finished 5th during the JV race, giving Lowell a perfect score. 3 Fernando Rosas (11) looks around for teammates after the NCC Conference meet. He finished 7th making him First Team All-Conference. 4. Ryan Streeter (9) passes the two mile mark during the Dave Walker Invite. Ryan finished the season with a personal 5k record of 20:40, improving by three minutes from his first race. 5. Alec Fleming (11) runs with top competitors from other schools. Alec distanced himself from others after mile two and won the race.

Step by Step

Our Journey to State

"3rd place, Lowell Red Devils," and the boys knew they had made school history. During the 2015 season, the boys managed to win sectionals and eventually qualify for state. The varsity team lost only two seniors from the previous year, but received junior transfer, Caleb Chapman from South Newton. Caleb ran varsity along with Dustin Hudak (10), Adam Joseph (11), Lucas Fontanez (12), Hunter Boyer (12), Alec Fleming (11), and Fernando Rosas (11) to round out the top seven. The boys won several invitationals throughout the season, and the success did not stop there. During the post season, the boys won Sectionals with senior Hunter Boyer winning the individual title. They continued to win Regionals with junior Alec Fleming winning the individual title. Then, for the first time in school history, the boys won Semi-State. At State the boys proved their worth by placing 3rd overall. Alec Fleming placed 5th and Hunter Boyer placed 14th, making them both All-State. Along with Caleb Chapman in 28th, barely missing All-State. This was their best year to date.

To the Finish

This was Lowell girls greatest season ever, and will be followed by many more. The team was lead by Jordyn Boyer (10), who went undefeated throughout the season until her final meet at State. This was the first time in school history that the girls qualified to compete at State as a team. The girls had proved their worth by competing and beating nationally ranked teams at large invites. The girls won Sectionals, placed second at both Regionals and Semi-State, and placed 19th at State. Jordyn Boyer had an All-State finish in 17th place, followed by her teammates Annalise James (10), Brooke Hayden (9), Claire Mitsch (10), Jessica Mescal (11), Alexia Bibakis (9), and Olivia McCauley (9).

1. Hayley Jenkins (10) passes the two mile mark at the Dave Walker Invite. Hayley was one of the lead runners for the JV team. 2. Olivia McCauley (9) finishes strong at Semi-State. Olivia was a strong competitor for the team, being the consistent number four runner. 3. Jessica Mescal (11) and Jordyn Boyer (10) pose with the Crown Point Invite trophy. Jordyn won the invite and Jessica had a top 20 finish. 4. Morgan Blank (9) runs as she competes in the NCC conference meet. She placed 20th in the reserve race. 5. The girls take off at the beginning of the Dave Walker Invite. The girls won the invite, just missing a perfect score. 6. Brooke Hayden (9) laces up before an important Semi-State race. Brooke had an impressive freshman season placing 136th at State.

FAST and FURIOUS

Chunks of green grass kicked in the air, mud stained uniforms on the field, and one fantastic team all made for an entertaining soccer season. The Lady Red Devils had quite a year winning more than half of their games. They fought hard for every goal and kept up their game even when the opponent was ahead. The girls came running to each game with power and confidence and kept it up until they won. Many of the girls said if they were to play one more game, they would want to play against Crown Point because the girls have been so close to beating them multiple times. Kathleen Banek (12), who has been playing soccer since second grade, enjoyed playing against Boone Grove for her senior night. She said "I was very appreciative of the hard work and effort my team put into the gifts and making sure the seniors had a great night."

1. Kelsey Tiemens (12) races to the goal with no one around to stop her. The opposing team could not catch up and steal the ball from her. 2. Katie Hult (12) scares opponents with her powerful kick. She made a successful pass which lead to a goal. 3. Rebecca Koon (12) runs across the field as her name is called for line up. Rebecca was the Lady Red Devils goalie. 6. Nicole Dewes (11) runs down the field with the ball. She scored a goal for the Lady Red Devils.

Reaching new GOALS

Every team, whether high school or professional, has many challenges they must overcome to have a successful season. It can be as easy as listening to the coach more or listening to other players opinions on how to better the team. The Lowell Red Devil boys soccer team is definitely a different program then in years past. Their record does not show how well they actually played. "Last year we were barely able to compete, but this year we were close to winning many different games," said Coach Antonio Gomez. Their stats definitely back them up. They had four goal scorers this year. Trevor Cooper (11) had four goals and five assists, Juan Contreras (12) had four goals, Avery Stein (11) had four goals and one assist, and Austin Lindzy (12) had five goals. The boys also broke a school record for the highest goal scoring game in history, which was 10-0 against Kouts. The teams defense was younger and better than ever. It was lead by Zachary Garcia (10), James Sanders (11), Cameron Sopovski (10), and Juan Contreras (12). Even with a younger team, the boys did not let the opponents get to them as they were a very competitive group.

1. Members from the team pose for a picture after playing a tough match. The boys won their individual matches and the team won as a whole. 2. The boys tennis team gathers around the trophy, celebrating their victory. This was the first time the boys had won sectionals in ten years. 3. Luke Fleming (11) slams the ball to the other side of the net. Luke won his match, destroying his opponent and anything they threw his way.

4. Nicholas Bank (11) reaches out to hit the ball back to his opponent. After a long match, he was excited to win. 5. Junior Hayden Ingram swings for an easy return to score. With great skill, Ingram defeated his opponent. 6. Senior Kyle Roberts backhands the ball over the net. He had a great last year on the tennis team. 7. Daniel Fleming (12) prepares to serve to his opponent. Despite the pressure, he was able to serve the ball perfectly and score a point for his team.

In sports, listening to the coach is always important, and sometimes coaches say some pretty inspiring things. Coach Dustin Hudak uses education as a way to help coach his tennis team. "My philosophy is identical to education. I just want them to give me effort and energy, the two "E's". It is amazing what you can do not only in a classroom, but also in the sport. If you give me effort and energy, you could be a great writer, a great tennis player, or even a great mathematician. It's incredible what you can accomplish with them." The players are pretty inspiring too. We asked players which word would best describe them. Anthony Szorc (10) responded "I'd say I'm dedicated because I'm practicing even when everyone else is not." Effort and dedication both played a big part in the team winning sectionals and having such a tremendous season.

United we Play, United we Win!

Whether it was for practice trying to improve their game or for a match against other opponents, the girls golf team spent many hours on the green. "My favorite part was being with the team. This was my first year and I got to meet a lot of new girls and made a lot of new friends. It's definitely been a pretty great experience," said senior Erin Brown. Every player on the girls golf team had their good days and their bad days, just like every other athlete out there. Sophomore Alyssa Harkness had a great first season on the team. "My strength would be listening to my coach and applying his advice to my game. My weakness would be getting upset with myself, but it's something I've been working on and will continue to work on in the future." Coach John Harris set a goal for the girls at the beginning of the season. They were excited for the challenge and knew they could accomplish it. The team beat the goal within the first few matches and surpassed what the coach had challenged them to do. With confidence and hard work, they were able to have a successful season and share a lot of new memories.

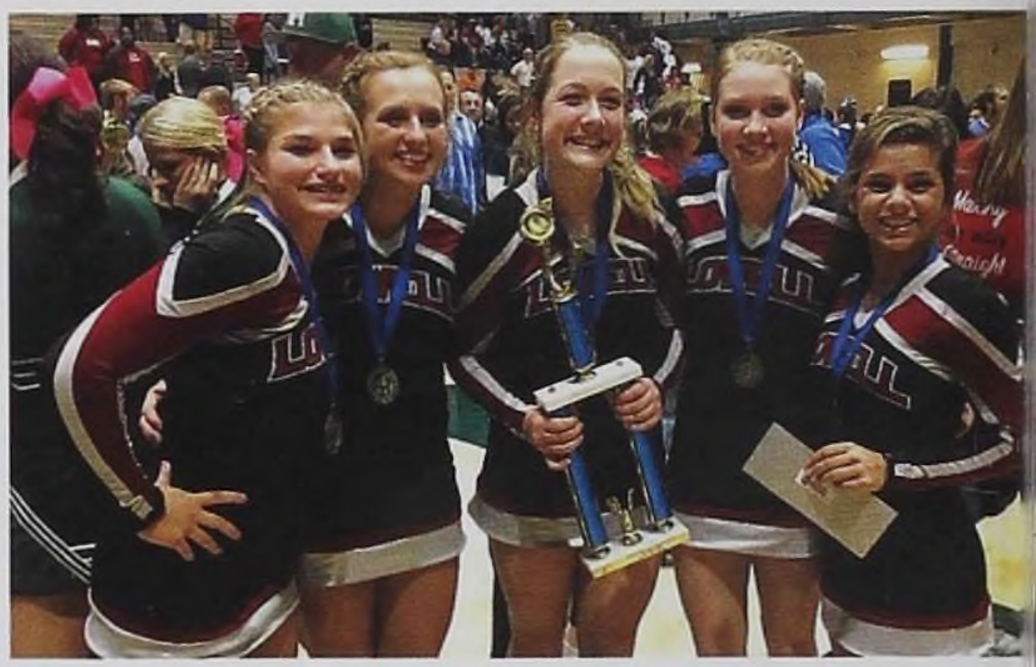
Tanner Greenholt (9) focuses on her form as she makes the practice putt. This was her first year playing on the golf team. 4. Three members of the team pose for a picture before a golf match. The team became their second family over the course of the season. 5. Madison Bydalek (10) smiles as she poses for a picture. She was happy when Lowell won the match.

Red, Black, & Pride

Lowell High School's cheerleaders jumped above the rest with the most school spirit. They spent every Friday night on the sidelines cheering on the football team. They also spent time practicing for competitions. Through thick and thin, this team fought hard to make things happen.The cheerleaders competed through out the fall and qualified for State, where the varsity stunt team brought home a Championship title. At Nationals, they took third place and a bid to UCA Nationals for a second time in two years. From cheering on those cold Friday nights, to waking up early every Saturday morning for practices and competitions, they give it their all. Together they got the crowds excited for an amazing football season and showed their Red Devil Pride.

1. Summer Poortenga (10) cheers underneath the Friday night lights. She was excited to make the varsity team as a sophomore. 2. Chance Morfoot (12) strikes a pose while up in the air. She was held by seniors Dru Downen and Hope Poortenga. 3. On a cold Friday night, the varsity cheerleaders do a cheer along with the devil mascot. Friday nights were always the girls favorite. 4. The varsity stunt group gather around after winning first place at State. They were excited that their hard work paid off. 5. A group of cheerleaders do a stunt in front of a picture perfect sunset. A sunset photo was a yearly tradition for the cheerleaders. 6. Both the Varsity and Junior Varsity cheerleaders gather together to take a group picture. They became a close team throughout the fall.



1. Mitchell Wildman (11) gets his ankle taped before football practice. Student athletic trainers were also responsible for helping student athletes ice their injuries.
2. Kylie Peters (11) stands behind the football players waiting to see if anyone needs help. This is her first year of being an athletic trainer. 3. Senior Karoline Chraponski wraps Senior Mason Rufo's hand and wrist before he goes to practice. Karoline planned to continue her training down the road. 4. Kara Katic (10) fills up water bottles before an athletic event. Being a trainer had many different aspects to it. 5. Karoline Chraponski (12), Kara Katic (10), and Lindsey Chraponski (10) pose for a quick picture while standing on the sidelines during practice. They were a dynamic trio.

We Train, You Gain

By: Rhiannon Spudic

Everyone that goes to a sporting event usually only sees what happens during the game, but what most don't see is what goes on before a game or on the side lines. While the fans are enjoying the game, the student athletic trainers have many different responsibilities that must attend to when it comes to helping student athletes. The fall trainers were Karoline Chraponski (12), Jamie Flynn (11), Kylie Peters (11), Kara Katic (10), Margaret Stein (10), and Lindsey Chraponski (10). They worked together everyday to attend to the needs of all the fall athletes. They were in charge of wound care, taping, stretching, wrapping, and taking water to the athletes. Each season, the athletic trainers learn to build relationships with the athletes of all the LHS sports teams. Athletic training was not just for fun. Karoline Chraponski planned to further her education and learn more about athletic training in college.

RED DEVIL NETWORK
Presents...
FRIDAY

1. Lauryn Click (11) and Robert Miller (11) smile for the camera while handing out candy during the LHS annual Track or Treat event. Dressing up as a cow made the kids laugh. 2. Alexis Salazar (11) and Emilie Meyers (11) stop and pose as they wait to ring in the new year. They had a fun time celebrating the start of 2017 with friends and family. 3. Gianna Groebner (11) spends New Year's Eve with her two brothers on a cruise. The family visited Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic over winter break. 4. Britney Rosenbrock (12) visits the Polar Express with her family and friends. The movie was performed while they all rode the train in Chicago. 5. Veronica Barnhill (10) and boyfriend Cameron Garling (12) stand in front of her Christmas Tree during the holidays. They were celebrating and eating Christmas dinner with Veronica's family.

6. Members of different clubs and classes come together outside to decorate the holiday trees. This was the first year the trees had been put up to show LHS festivity and RDP. 7. Sarah Litteral (11), Breanna Fields (10). Michelle Stoyanov (10), Joshua Converse (10) Kristin Cano (10), and Holly Hackman (10) visit Great America during Fright Fest the day before Halloween. It was an ice breaker for students in Academic Decathlon and Spellbowl. 8. Students in the FFA club stand by the tree they created for their club. They had a great time decorating their tree for the Lowell Chamber of Commerce fundraiser.

Holding on to Tradition

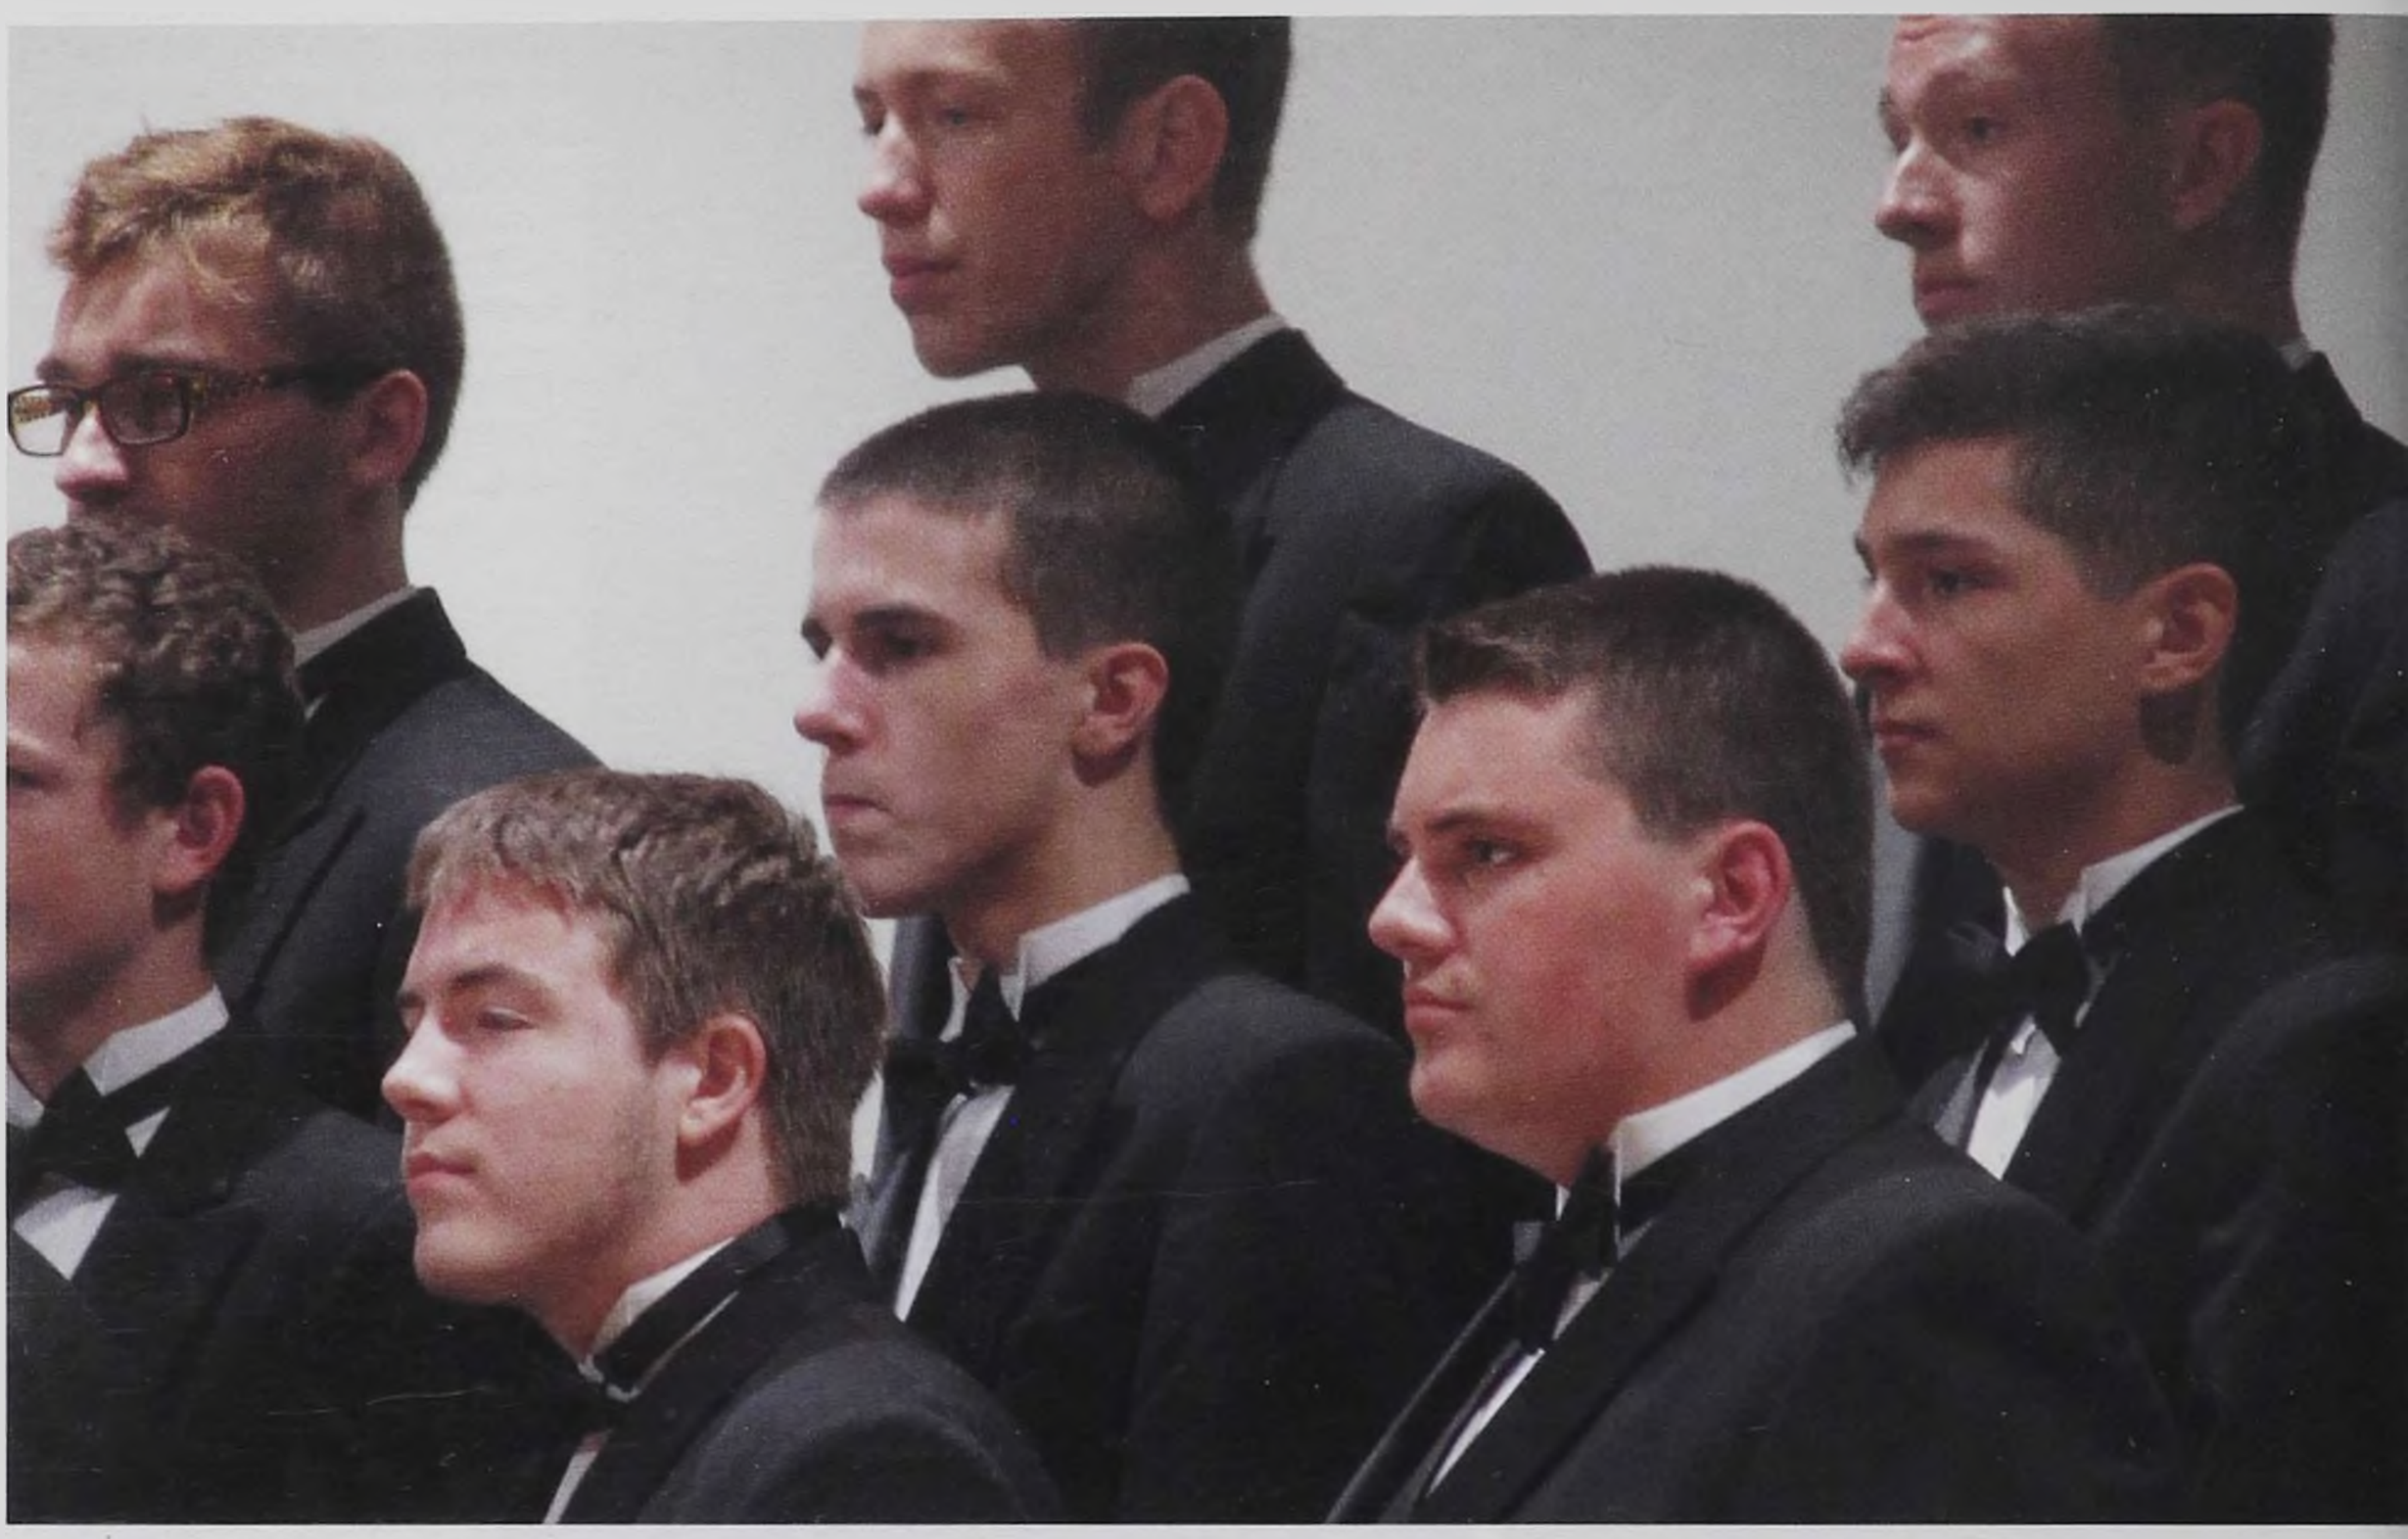
Holidays are the fun times that students look forward to throughout the entire school year. Lauryn Click (11) has attended Track or Treat since her freshman year of high school. "I enjoy going to Track or Treat every year because everyone in the community comes together while children of all ages dress up in costumes and collect candy to help support the Special Olympics," said Click.

No matter how you celebrate the holidays, whether it be Track or Treat, decorating the Christmas trees inside the school or ringing in the New Year with your friends, LHS students love having time off school to celebrate the holidays. Whatever your traditions may be, every holiday is about making memories and enjoying being with your friends and family.

Together we Sing



Choir is a place where the students can be free and express who they really are. LHS has four choirs including Beginning Mixed, Debutants, Accents and Premiere Distinction. There are 115 students from every grade with different genders, ethnic backgrounds, and different talents. Just because these students have differences does not mean that they can't be a choir family. Junior Kristen Newlin said "you walk off the stage with the family you have created." By the end of the second concert of the year the choirs had done what they had set out to do. Members of the choir spread joy and happiness to their audience members by singing everyones favorite songs. Choir members don't sing because they are happy, they are happy because they are singing. They intend to send that message when they perform at their concerts. With every concert, the choirs intend to bring joy and happiness to their audiences and keep the family aspect that they have created. Breanne Gearlds (12) said "Our choir class is like one big family as well. Everyone is so nice to one another. It is a very warm environment."

1. The boys of Premiere Distinction wait to start singing at the concert. Their favorite concert to sing at was the Showcase Concert at the end of the school year. 2. Mrs. Rickaby conducts the Debutantes as they sing. The audience was impressed by the sound they produced. 3. The Acquire choir stands on the risers as they wait for Mrs. Rickaby to start conducting. All of their hard work paid off as they produced another successful concert.

4. The Accents stand on the risers as they perform. Each member enjoyed singing every song during their performance. 5. Audrey Madura (10), Hope Margo (10), Courtney Allen (9), and Avery Hon (10) stand with perfect posture as they finish singing their song. They sang their hearts out and filled the auditorium with beautiful sounds. 6. Dressed festive for the first concert, the Premiere Distinction choir performs a song. They worked hard for the very first concert of the year.

1. Freshman Abigail Loudermilk plays the bells during the annual Christmas concert in December. She gave an outstanding performance while playing her piece for the first time.
2. Nadia Flewellen (10) follows the rhythm of the music during one of the pieces being played. Nadia enjoyed herself as this was her second year in the Concert Band.

The SOUND of Music

Along with the Lowell High School Marching Band and Guard, The Wind Ensemble and Concert Band received a new director, Mr. Jonathan Flodder. The bands had fun learning the different ways Mr. Flodder taught music. He created moments to have fun while learning, but then had some serious moments where things needed to get done.

After the first semester of the school year, both bands faced drastic changes. They assimilated new music, new warm up tones, and even new embouchure for the instruments. In just a short period of time the bands showed major improvements. They were a band that no one else could understand. Each section, filled with different abilities and talents, came together to form something great. Day in and day out their hard work was tested as they were given new and challenging tasks. No matter the score or rating given to them from judges at ISSMA, they knew they had given their all and wouldn't change a thing.

3. Ryan Walkowiak (9) keeps great posture as he waits for his part to come in the music. He played the french horn during the concert. 4. Jazz Band members play a special piece for the audience. Everyone was amazed by their talent in the jazz category. 5. Anna Bender (10) puts her fingers to work as she plays a challenging piece at the first ever fall concert. Anna played her best and walked off stage knowing she gave her all for the performance.

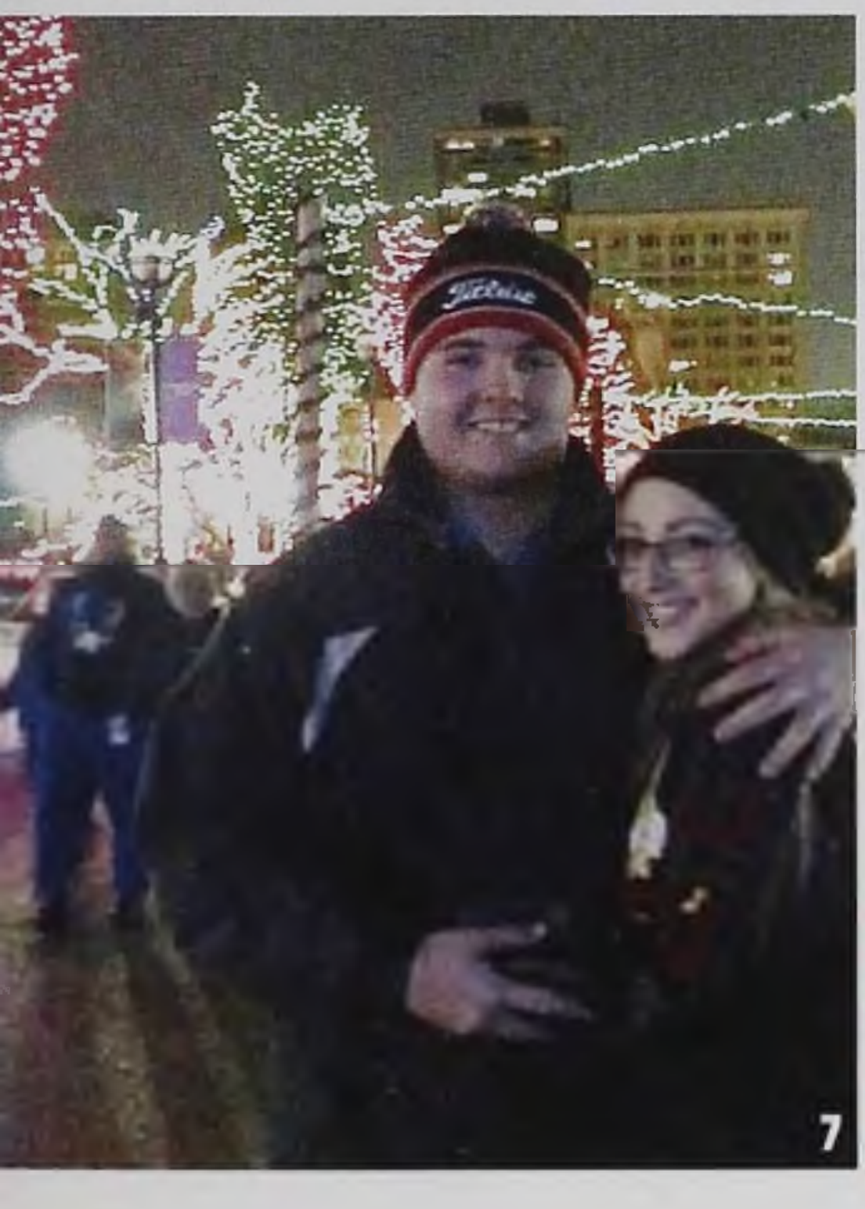
6. Kody Kemp (11) sits and listens to a member of the band play their solo. He was the only tuba in the Concert Band. 7. Sophomore Chandler Austgen plays along with the music at the fall concert in October. He played the best to his ability being the only member in his section.

1. Daniel Fleming (12) and brother Luke Fleming (11) pose with their family in front of the Cubs World Series trophy. They were able to see the trophy at the Cubs Store in Chicago. 2. Payton Leoni (11) and sister Mia Leoni (9) host Christmas with their friends Mackenzie Williams (11) Kristen Newlin (11) , Elizabeth Atchley (11) and Skylar Garza (11). Everyone wore and different animal onesie to make the night more entertaining. 3. Freshmen Lheanna Anderson, Morgan Blank, Anna Kampe, Julianna Damm, Lauren Williams and Katherine Smetana give a thumbs up sign during their annual Friendsmas party. This was their second year celebrating together.

Winter Fun

Winter break is the time of year that most students look forward to the minute summer vacation is over. This is when students have nothing to worry about except shopping, catching up on sleep, playing video games, and eating leftovers. It's also the time of year when students get to spend extra time with family and friends. During this time, some students tend to stay home and get cozy while others travel all over the country to spend their holidays with others. This is the time of year when the cold weather gets the best of us and everyone stays inside by the fire, spending hours cuddled up watching their favorite holiday movies. The last few days of break are when students celebrate New Year's Eve and get ready to make the next year better than the last.

By: Laurin Cole



4. Sarah Litteral (11) spent time during break visiting her sister in Indianapolis. They had a great time hiking at Broad Ripple Park. 5. Chloe Wilson (10) and Matthew Iwinski (10) pose for a funny picture outside in the snow. They spent the day sledding. 6. Brittany Kish (10), Kiara Hubster-Robertson (10), Jillian Scott (10), Katelyn Dutro (10) and Erica Rakos (10) smile for a group shot on New Year's Eve. They spent the night celebrating with friends. 7. Jordan Harris (10) and Elizabeth Atchley (11) spend a day in the city. They ended their night at Lincoln Park Zoo looking at the zoo lights. 8. Seniors Rebecca Koon, Kathryn Leigh, Nicole Karm, Carli Medina, Emily Mayer and Madison Borrero (12) spend time together at a Christmas gathering during break. They were celebrating their last Christmas party as high school students.

Walkin' in Paris

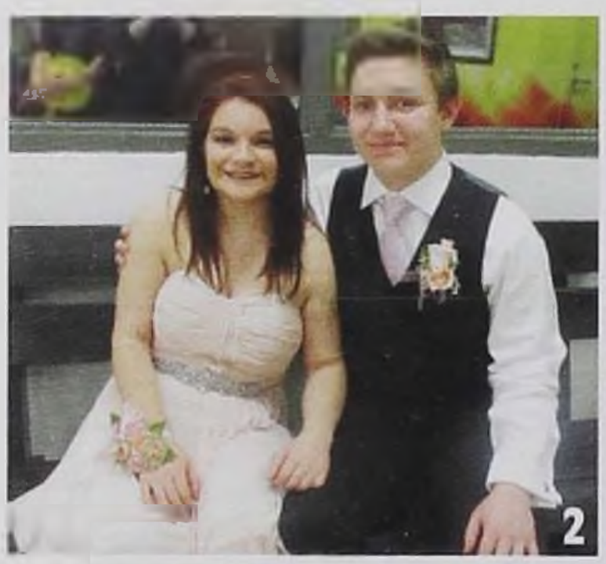
Paris is known as the city of love. Most people imagine the beautiful night life of the city, sweethearts walking side by side as the gentlemen pour out their heart and tell of their love for the ladies beside them. But this year at LHS, the girls decided it was their turn to do the talking. This led to the Winter Semi-Formal dance, which was a turnabout style dance where the girls asked the guys instead of the usual guys asking girls. Turnabout was a huge hit because of this change. The Lowell High School cafeteria was full of fun and dancing. Each student forgot the homework and assignments of the week and focused on having fun with their dates or their friends, all while admiring the beautiful Paris style scenery.



1. Payton Leoni (11) and Andrew Kirin (12) stand outside the dance area. The lobby had many beautiful decorations and was where students got pictures taken. 2. Mariah Ziak (10) and Andrew Fitzwater (10) sit in matching formal wear while taking a break from dancing. Every student dressed their best for the big night. 3. The pavilion lights shine like the lights of Paris as students get fresh air. It was a popular spot for students to take pictures. 4. Cameron Garling (12) and Veronica Barnhill (11) slow dance in the middle of the dance floor. The dance was filled with many charming couples. 5. Students of every grade hit the dance floor. Each one showed off their dance moves. 6. Lauren Ritter (10) and Emily Watkins (10) enjoy the atmosphere inside the cafeteria. Many students attended the dance with friends. 7. Kyle Wells (12) relaxes on a bench in the pavilion. The students all enjoyed the benches, which offered some rest between songs.

1. Mariah Ziak (10) shows a Merrillville student how to make a pinch pot. Each student that visited LHS sat in on a class and participated. 2. S.T.A.N.D. members gather together in the dance studio for a meeting. The club met often to make plans for events. 3. Members of S.T.A.N.D. show off their t-shirts. The club designed them and took great pride in wearing them. 4. Emily Crouch (12) holds a sign that represents S.T.A.N.D. She was a very involved member. 5. S.T.A.N.D. members meet up with students at Merrillville High School. The groups joined together to show what a day at MHS was like. 6. Two MHS students make pottery in the ceramics class. Both girls concentrated on making the perfect piece. 7. Club members pose by the holiday tree they decorated. Their tree represented what the club meant to them.

Standing up

Diversity is something that not many small town schools are known for. Lowell decided to challenge that stereotype when students got together to create S.T.A.N.D. (Socially Together and Naturally Diverse). The club focused on diversity through community service. It was started here at LHS in 2016 by Ms. Shannon Richards. The club has done more than just explore diversity within the club, they have also reached out and touched many students, both in and outside of Lowell. This included the students of Merrillville High School, who came to LHS in March for a S.T.A.N.D. event. Each student was shown Lowell's campus by S.T.A.N.D. members, and even got to sit in on some classes, just as Lowell students did the previous day at Merrillville High School. Members were able to make friends, see how the other school was, and learned more about diversity and acceptance.

1. The Academic Decathlon team carefully listens to a professional speaker about how to succeed in competitions. The team has been very successful in the past. 2. Thomas Braun (12) and his younger brother play an intense game of Alhambra during Gamer's Guild, which is sponsored by Mr. Brandush. Both boys were very good at scheming and strategizing their next moves. 3. The Santuary Club poses for a picture during one of their Friday morning meetings, They were all very close friends and used the meetings to pray for the school and any teachers and students who needed it. 4. The American Sign Language Club shows off how to say "I love you." They enjoyed working with each other and loved learning a unique language. 5. Tyler Alvarez (12), Kyle Novak (12), and Wesley Clifford (11) work on an improv exercise called Stand, Sit, Lie for Improv Club. As the scene unfolded, there always had to be someone standing, someone sitting, and someone lying down. 6. The FFA club takes a picture to show off how proud they are to be apart of the team. They hosted different events such as the annual FFA Pork Chop Dinner before a home football game.

You Say Clubs We Say Family

By: Avery Johnson

Lowell High School offers many different clubs to its student body. There are so many different ones to chose from, students have no problem finding a club that best fits their interests. These clubs allow students to join in activities they are personally interested in. It's also a way for students to meet new people and experience new things. Friendships start to form as these members begin to share the same interests. "I spend most of my time laughing and having fun with the friends I've made in the clubs that I've joined. They feel more like a family rather than just a team. It's always good to be part of extracurricular actives," said sophomore Jessica McIntosh. Another plus is that the more activities a student joins, the better their resumes and college applications look. LHS has clubs such as Improv, FFA, Student Council, Environmental Club, the Anti-Bullying Committee, L-Club, Sanctuary, Amercian Sign Language, Spanish Club and many more. Whether it's learning new games in the Gamer's Guild or trying out the new Journalism Club, LHS is proud to be the home of such club variety.

7. Lauryn Click (11) poses for a picture with a third grader. The L-Club members took a study trip to read to elementary school students. 8. Mr. Deal instructs the students about journalism in Mr. Gianotti's Jouralism Club. Many students were very interested in joining the newest LHS club. 9. Tyler Alvarez (12) Daniel McGannon (11) Wesley Clifford (11) Kyle Novak (12) and Joseph Cardenas (12) play a game called Superheroes in Mr. Brandush's sponsored Improv Club. Each student got to show their talents and creativity by being a part of the club.

WE'RE HERE FOR you

Peer Mentoring was a valuable course for all students, especially when the older students were able to help incoming students find their way. Each year the mentors took a trip to DePauw University during the summer to work on team bonding and to prepare for the new year. A few days before school, mentors gave tours to help underclassmen find their classes. At the beginning of the year, the mentors were assigned mentees, which were the freshmen students. The mentors were there to give advice and help the students throughout their first year of high school. "I chose to join the mentor program because I love to help people and thought it was a great way to help our school and all of our new students. Being a mentor is a wonderful experience. It is rewarding to know you're helping others in a way that can also help yourself. I chose to join the mentor program and it was the best decision of my life," said Hannah Crouch (10). Peer mentors spent time organizing events like selling candy grams and planning the special needs prom. This year the mentors organized and ran a benefit for Kara Katic (10), a fellow mentor who had recently lost her father. They collected raffle prizes as well as organized and worked at the spaghetti dinner to raise money for Kara and her family. This was certainly one of the busiest years for the mentors and yet one of the best.

1. French students and mentor students join together to explain course options to incoming freshmen. The mentor students took the incoming freshmen on a tour around the school to get them excited about coming to the high school. 2.Tyler Jansky (11) and Alexander Juszczak (10) help at a benefit for fellow mentor Kara Katic. These mentors were working the spaghetti dinner to raise money for Kara and her family. 3. A group of mentors play "The String Game" to help get to know the new mentors better. They spent three days at DePauw University for summer training. 4. Sophomores Lindsey Chraponski, Kara Katic, and Bailey Janovick work together to create a poster. They were trying to recruit new members for the Peer Mentoring class. 5. Seniors Sara Townsley and Emily Crouch take incoming freshmen on their first tour through the high school. While they walked, they explained what it was like being a high school student. 6. The entire mentor group takes a picture before packing up to head home. Training at DePauw University was a great way to learn how to be a better mentor and make new friends.

1. Jordan Morache (12) practices taking blood pressure on Lucas Finger (12). This was part of the CNA program that was on the state exam. 2. Students in the Digital Design class work on their skits using Adobe Photoshop. They often collaborated in groups to share ideas and increase creativity. 3. Madison Dornack (11) helps Mr. Delgado create a t-shirt in class. The graphic design class was able to do many things with their new multifunction printer. 4. Erin Brown (12) shows Mr. Tonevich how well she knows her traffic control skillls. The Criminal Justice II class was responsible for traffic control and security at LHS functions. 5. Austin Lindzy (12) and Joshua Bruinius (12) prep a lawn mower deck donated to the Landscaping program. They assisted the grounds crew with hands-on learning of grounds maintenance.

CTE Classes 52

Preparing for the Real World

By: Emily Peyton

The smell of fresh flowers and the clanking of wrenches on car parts filled the halls of the LHS Tech wing. It was in the Tech wing that many LHS students learned important life skills. From graphic design to anatomy, CTE classes have always created a bridge between the classroom and the rest of the world. As time has gone on, many schools have abandoned the classic life skills classes that people typically think of. Wood shop, metal shop, cooking, and sewing have become as outdated as TV antennas. With changes in courses over the years, many students found a need for taking CTE classes, which were useful in everyday life and in their future. It not only gave students new skills, but it got their feet wet to see if this was something they wanted to pursue in their future.

6. Seniors Dru Downen, Kirsten Witrykowski, Sarah Klotz and Kathryn Hernandez compare their results from a urinalysis lab. All four girls were part of the Health Careers class. 7. Students in the Horticulture class look over the Poinsettias that they grew in the green house. The students planted the flowers in August so they were ready in time for Christmas. 8. Students from the many CTE classes get ready for the Labor Day parade. The Automotive class drove a car alongside as well, which displayed the CTE classes offered at LHS.

THE BOOK in your HANDS

Every year, the Lowellian Yearbook staff creates the book that commemorates the year. The process began with the staff deciding on the theme for the book. The theme depicts the year and this year "Our Journey" was chosen. The staff was assigned the pages that they have to create. They learned how to design and style layouts for pages of the yearbook, journalistic and caption writing, photography techniques along with cropping pictures, theme development, and advertising, sales and marketing techniques. Every event, every student, every location, every accomplishment, and every thing existing within these walls were covered as best as possible. The yearbook class was responsible for selling yearbooks, business ads, senior baby ads, and putting on "Lowell's Got Talent" to raise money for the book and for the class. They worked hard and did everything possible to create the book in your hands.

LIVE in 3...2...1...

Radio and Television isn't your average class where you sit at a desk and learn a subject for weeks for a final test. Instead, students go around the school interacting with other students and staff to create videos and newscasts. Students learn how to use television level cameras, use a studio similar to those at major news stations, and learn the techniques and skills to creating a television quality video. The skills include framing shots and filming b-roll, using microphones properly, and editing videos.

While Ms. Gramenz has a background working in news, this year the Radio and Television staff gained former Associate Producer from ABC 7 Chicago, Mr. McLindon. Mr.McLindon came to LHS to pass his knowledge and experience to the next generation of filmmakers at Lowell High School. While Ms. Gramenz's classes focused on live productions of the news, Mr. Mclindon's classes debuted a segment based show that played on Fridays entitled "The Friday Show."

1. Devin Ferguson (11) and Leah Hackett (10) use online tools to help them memorize vocabulary words. Sites have often been used for anything from flashcards to grammar help, both in and out of class. 2. Rayanne Janota (9) and Macee Gill (9) present in Spanish 1 class. Many language classes have done this restaurant style presentation before..

3. Maiah Koslovsky (11) gets her French Market table ready for students. The baked goods and refreshments were always a huge success at the event. 4. Alexander Pavlick (9) and Alexander Krol (9) read with Mrs. Solano during class. Each language teacher played a key roll in student success. 5. Sarah Litteral (11) keeps her French Market booth in order. The French Red Devil shirts were a huge hit among students.

A World of LANGUAGE

Students at Lowell High School have always shown admiration and commitment to the Language department. Many students have even visited France or Spain in order to pursue their passion of knowledge and fluency in the native tongue. Although many of the students at LHS have loved both the French and Spanish classes that have been available to them, many have shown a desire to grow even more. The ideas for different courses have always been a fun subject that students have spent free time thinking about. Just what languages do the students daydream of learning? Well, take a look!

PAINTING a Journey

By Emily Peyton

When you think art class, you probably think of a room full of projects similar to what we all do in elementary school. Popsicle stick sculptures, coil pots, and dry macaroni art. At Lowell High School, there was a much different classroom, one filled with imagination and the spark of creativity. Stain glass styled pieces hung from above as students worked hard at the projects they poured themselves into. Many students enjoyed the new painting and drawing classes at LHS, which gave students a refreshed outlook on art. Sarah Nipp (11) said "Painting class is unique because unlike my other courses, it gives me the wonderful ability to have freedom when choosing which way to approach my work. I am able to choose colors, designs, canvas sizes, and brush techniques to put my own spin on each and every one of my projects. The same can't really be said for geometry, so it's a refreshing twist."

1. Christian Swiercz (10) and Kevin Hooley (10) paint side by side. The two smile with the satisfaction of work well done. 2. Taylor Frampton (10) concentrates on her piece for class. Dedication and hard work have always been key for the art program at Lowell. 3. The art students work hangs in the media center at LHS. Each piece acted like a stain glass window, casting vibrancy into the room. 4. Cody Rambeaux (9), Rory Browne (10), and Jonathan Katona (9) help each other with projects. Their team work was pulled off in the end, leaving each boy with a piece they were proud of.

Ladies FASH

1. Brittany Kish (10) never fails when it comes to fashion! She's always on top of the latest trends and the most popular clothing items. "Forever 21 is my favorite store to shop at. They do a good job of keeping up with the latest trends and every time I go there, I never leave empty handed." I think it's safe to to say that Forever 21 is a favorite of Brittany's. However, she does get inspiration from fashion magazines and celebrities on how she wants to put together her outfit for the day. "I look in magazines and I try to find outfits that are similar to the ones I have seen in the pictures. I also get some of my fashion inspiration from Selena Gomez. I think she has a great fashion sense. It's chic but sophisticated all at the same time. If I could have anybody's style, it would definitely be hers."

KATHERINE KENNELLY

2. Katherine Kennelly (12) loves fashion, and has invested a good amount of her time into pursuing her interest in fashion. She even got selected to be apart of the Nordstrom Fashion Ambassadors Program. "Once a month I go to the Nordstrom located in Chicago to discuss fashion trends, social media, and fashion shows." It's an honor to get to work with Nordstrom for someone who aspires to work in the fashion industry. "I love buying clothes off of the Nordstrom rack, but I also like to buy my clothes at Goodwill. I usually find really unique or vintage pieces that I think would pair nicely with other items in my closet."

3. Alexis Salazar (11) loves shopping and finding new ways to mix and match clothing. She enjoys picking out patterns to see which ones match and don't match. However, she often has a few different looks and styles, and her outfit of the day is usually based on one thing. "I don't really have a specific style, it really just depends on my mood. Sometimes I like to dress cute and casual, and other times I like to have that edgy look." When it comes to her clothing choices, she definitely has a favorite. "My favorite piece of clothing has to be leggings. They're super comfortable. You can dress them up or you can wear them with a sweatshirt for a lazy day outfit. No matter what you pair them with, you're guaranteed to stay comfortable all day."

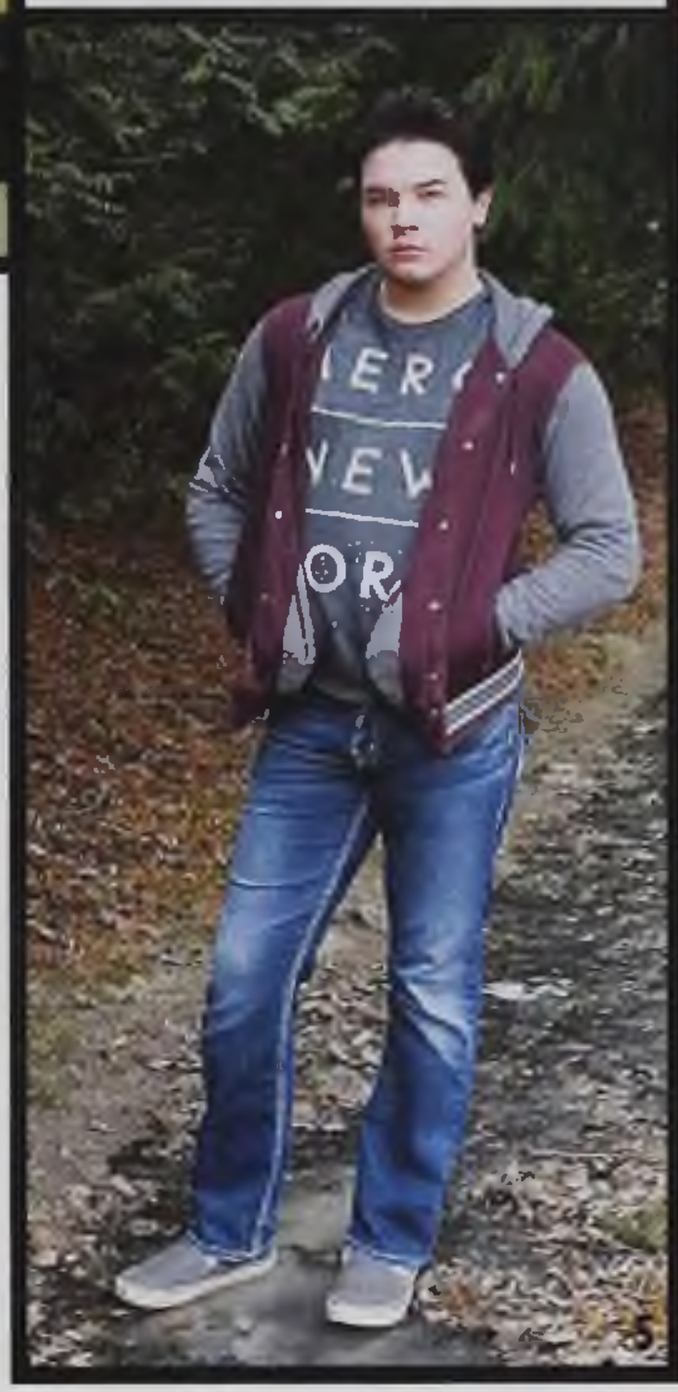
ALEC FLEMING

4. Alec Fleming (11) likes to get his fashion inspiration from celebrities such as music artists, or anything that looks trendy on social media. "I see the musicians that I follow on Instagram post pictures of what they're wearing for the day. I usually like their style, so whenever I go shopping for new clothes I try to buy things similar to what they wear. I usually find these items at PacSun or American Eagle. It seems like those are the two stores that are always on top of trends when it comes to mens clothing." Alec also has a favorite piece that he likes to wear a lot in the fall, winter, and spring seasons. "Jackets are my favorite clothing items to wear. I think they look really nice. I like how you can wear them as outerwear, or you can wear them to dress up an outfit."

5. Hunter Shepard (12) has a little bit of an edge to his style, but he likes to keep it comfortable at the same time. "I would describe my style as comfortable, casual, and a little edgy. I like to dress up and look put together most of the time, but I do have my days where I love wearing my sweatpants." It's quite obvious that Hunter does have some edge to his style, but who doesn't like to dress comfortable every once and a while? "My favorite clothing item is probably a hoodie or a pullover sweater. They are both very versatile and you can wear them with a number of things. You can dress them up, or wear them with sweats. They match just about anything."



HUNTER SHEPARD

DADE HUYCK

6. Dade Huyck (10) prefers to keep it casual when it comes to his style, but you'll never see him in sweatpants. He prefers looking put together and usually never has lazy outfit days. He puts some time and effort into choosing his outfit every morning instead of just throwing things together. "I feel better and a lot more confident about myself when I put on a pair of nice khakis or jeans and a nice shirt or sweatshirt rather than a pair of sweatpants and a t-shirt." When is comes to buying clothes, he usually tends to shop at the same stores. "I usually get my clothes from Express, PacSun, American Eagle, and The Buckle. I find all of their clothes really comfortable, but very in trend at the same time."

7. Adam Sczurko (12) always keeps his clothing choices comfortable and casual, but he also likes to look put together and neat as well. "I normally shop at PacSun or Aeropostale. I can usually find clothes there at a reasonable price." Adam often has no problem with finding his outfits on his own, but he does have some people in mind who inspire his fashion sense. "The people who inspire me to dress the way I do would probably be my girlfriend and my friends. My girlfriend loves picking out my clothes when we go shopping. Sometimes, I like to get outfit ideas from what I see what my friends are wearing at school."

Fencing is a very skillful sport and students that fence are dedicated. There are three different fencing weapons which are sabres, foils, and epees. There are different students for each type of weapon. Ms. McPheeters has coached since the club started. She, herself, started fencing in 2006 and fell in love with it. She fenced for Purdue University all four years of college. It was there where she learned to coach from her coach; a two-time olympian and two-time national champion. Fencing was open to any student from ninth through twelfth grade. Some students fenced all four years while others just started their journey. This was the second year that LHS hosted a tournament, which was a huge accomplishment. Fencing was more then a club, it was like a family. Everyone helped each other out and had a great time in the process.

1. Maya Nietzel (10) waits for the director to start the bout. She competed at the only home tournament of the season. 2. Amya Kirk (10) fences on strip for a bout during practice. She was a second year fencer for Sabre. 3. Gabrielle Morgan (9) and Maya Nietzel (10) practice their attacks and parries during a drill. Doing drills over the skills in fencing helped develop muscle memory that enabled fencers to act more quickly in bouts. 4. A fencer from Culver Academies lunges toward senior Jarrett Freeman and falls short. Jarrett attempted to counter and defeated his opponent in direct elimination. 5. The LHS Fencing Club poses for a picture at their only home tournament of the season. They were excited to bring fencers from around Indiana to LHS for competition.

1. Nicholas Mantis (12) crosses the court while dribbling ball. He was determined to keep it in his possession and score for the Red Devils. 2. Noah Durr (11) holds out his hands to block the Hobart player from passing the ball. He worked hard to steal the ball and get possession. 3. Jordan Jusevitch (11) goes for a lay-up to score for the team. He was a leader for the Red Devils. 4. Nicholas Mantis (12) fires the ball in the hole for three. He was the first player of the season to score one thousand points. 5. Bailey Laumeyer (12) hits a jumper to put points on the board. He was able to make the shot with help from Brett Skorka (12). 6. Johnathan Cory (12) aims the ball and sinks the shot. He was the second player to score one thousand points, which was the first time in history that two players scored one thousand points in one season. 7. Zachary Redmon (12) dribbles the ball up the court during their game against Highland. This was one of the many plays that night that helped secure the win.

The whistle blows, breaking the players out of their huddle and into the court. The boys stay close to opponents running until sweat is dripping down their foreheads. A piercing buzzer sounds the victory of the boys varsity basketball team. They beat Kankakee Valley with a score of 73 to 41. The boys came out with a lot of energy and really tried to build a big lead early on in the game. The Red Devils scored the first basket and never looked back. Teamwork and team spirit were the key factors in winning games. After all, basketball isn't won by just one player. The 2016 season proved to be a good one for more than just the returning players. The team gained several freshmen who worked hard to make it big coming into the high school. They found a way to overcome every challenge thrown at them. Many of the players mentioned that the record they obtained throughout the season was not reflective on how well the season went in their eyes. "The boys basketball season was very successful," said Coach Delgado. "The team repeated as Caston Tournament Champions and had two 1000 point scorers in the same season." The boys were proud of what they brought to the court as it lead to many victories.

1. Junior Alivia Barta blocks her opponent to allow her teammate to score for the Lady Red Devils. The girls had a successful season with many victories. 2. Catlyn Mulligan (10) stands with her arms open wide to block her opponent. She kept her guard up and never let her opponent past her. 3. Ryleigh Tully (12) throws the ball back into play after it rolling out of bounds. She successfully passed the ball to one of her teammates.

she SHOOTS, she SCORES

With excitement in the air and a new coach on the floor, the Lady Red Devils added yet another chapter to our school's athletic history. Though there is still work to be done, head coach Kelly Chavez believes the team showed a lot of improvement and consistency as the season progressed. The highlight of the year came when our Red Devils did what many sports writers and analysts thought was impossible; contain nationally ranked Dana Evans from West Side. The game was an intense battle from start to finish and while our ladies ultimately came up short, they did indeed manage to put West Side's star player on edge as they led her until the last minute of the third period. Our Lady Red Devils finished the season with a record of 6 - 18, but are confident that they have laid a solid foundation to build off of in the years to come. "I thought it was a great season," said junior Kayla Muha. "To me, the number of wins and losses doesn't compare to the growth you see in yourself and the other players."

4. Senior Alexandria Collins pushes the ball up the court. She encouraged her team throughout every play of every game. 5. The team gathers around the coach during a timeout. Hard work and dedication paid off for them this season. 6. Joselyne Bobos (12) stands and shoots a free throw at the game against the Hobart Brickies. Using perfect form, she made both free throw shots.

1. Joel Dearing (10) takes the leap off the diving board. He was one of few divers on the team and has improved greatly since his first. 2. Senior Hunter Boyer does the butterfly stroke at a meet. Hunter became an exceptional swimmer this season. 3. The boys swim team huddles up before the meet to get everyone pumped. The boys had a very successful season swimming away with many victories. 4. Two members of the team take their mark for a race against East Chicago. It was a great meet and everyone put in their best efforts.

Staying Afloat

The boys swim team had an outstanding year, accomplishing big things this season. From breathing techniques to proper form, the boys devoted their time and effort in order to perfect their strokes and dives. Junior Ethan Krucina placing sixth in the 50 free with a time of 21.03, breaking his previous school record. He also placed eighth in the 100 free with a time of 46.48. He became the first male swimmer in school history to place in the top eight in both individual events. As a unit, the boys swim team persevered. They placed 20th out of 83 state qualifying teams. This is the highest the team has ever placed at a state meet. Success doesn't mean you always have to win, it can mean beating your personal record, or accomplishing your goal. Soon you realize that all the hard work and all those early morning practices were worth it. Jayce Lillibridge (12) had a motto, "One breath at a time, one stroke at a time, one race at a time."

By: Kaitlyn Barnett

5. Seth Green (11) takes a quick break after beating a record. All the hard work he put into this swim season definitely paid off in the end. 6. Flying through the water, Gage Torres (10) works on his back stroke at Lowell. He glided through the lane finishing his race. 7. Dawson Hornickel (10) comes up for a breath before continuing his swimming stroke. He swam the breast stroke during the home meet. 8. Ethan Krucina (11) places sixth in the 50 free while competing at the swimming and diving State Championship and gets a handshake from Lowell Athletic Director Patti McCormack. He broke his previous school record mark.

Swimming can be a great stress reliever for anyone. It is a fun summer staple and is also a great way to strengthen your upper body and core. The girls swim team had a great season this year. There was a lot of improvement on the team and how the swimmers and divers developed as athletes. "I feel the team has become closer and more like a family than just a team." said Angela Fisher (11). The attitude and determination changed this year, especially in the water. The girls on the swim team became more aggressive in the pool compared to years past. They also took home more firsts than the previous year, which was a huge boost for them. The swim team had an influx of freshmen, so there were more positive attitudes and fresh faces around, which lifted the teams spirits greatly. They all became close this year and will always consider each other family.

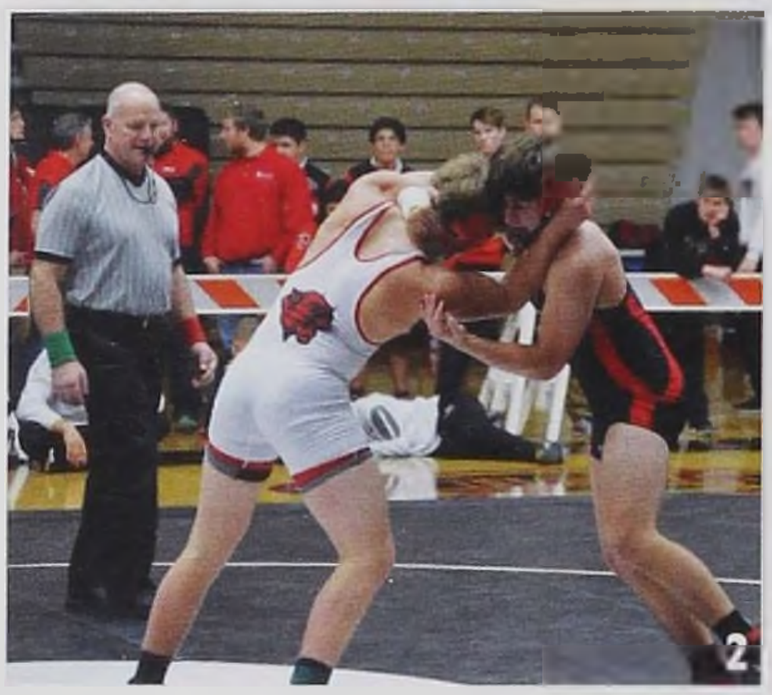
1. As Megan Snell (11) pushes herself through the final sprint in the 100m butterfly. She loved being in the water and looked forward to her senior swimming season. 2. Katherine Smetana (9) dives her way into success as the team competes against Highland. She worked hard to better her times in preparation for sectionals. 3. Diamond Ryles (11) dives backwards into the water during a swim meet. She swam straight to victory against Kankakee Valley and beat the competition. 4. Allison Templin (12) poses for a picture with her parents on Senior night. She was excited to be a senior, but was sad that it was her last.

BY: Hunter Shepard

5. Tatiana Mireles (11) dives straight into the pool at a swim meet against Kankakee Valley. She improved at every meet and looked forward to next season. 6. The girls swim team and divers smile for a picture after their first meet. They were determined to have a great season. 7. Megan Snell (11) gives her all, determined to make her way to victory. They won the swim meet against Highland. 8. Angela Fisher (11) swims the backstroke during practice. She showed much improvement during the season, along with the rest of the team.

The Swimmers Recipe:

Just add water



1. Colton Cummings (12) stands on the podium showing off his first place win. This was the first time LHS had been invited to the Lake County Dual in several years. 2. Kevin Hooley (10) engages in a tie up with his opponent from Kankakee Valley. They matched up at Conference at LHS. 3. Senior Lucas Finger tries to bring his opponent down to a crack down position. It was a hard fought battle with the Hobart wrestler. 4. Robert Miller (11) works hard to take down his opponent. He completed a shot against the KV wrestler. 5. Showing his Red Devil Pride, Senior Colton Cummings wins his match. He was proud of winning his 126 pound weight class.

Winners TRAIN Losers COMPLAIN

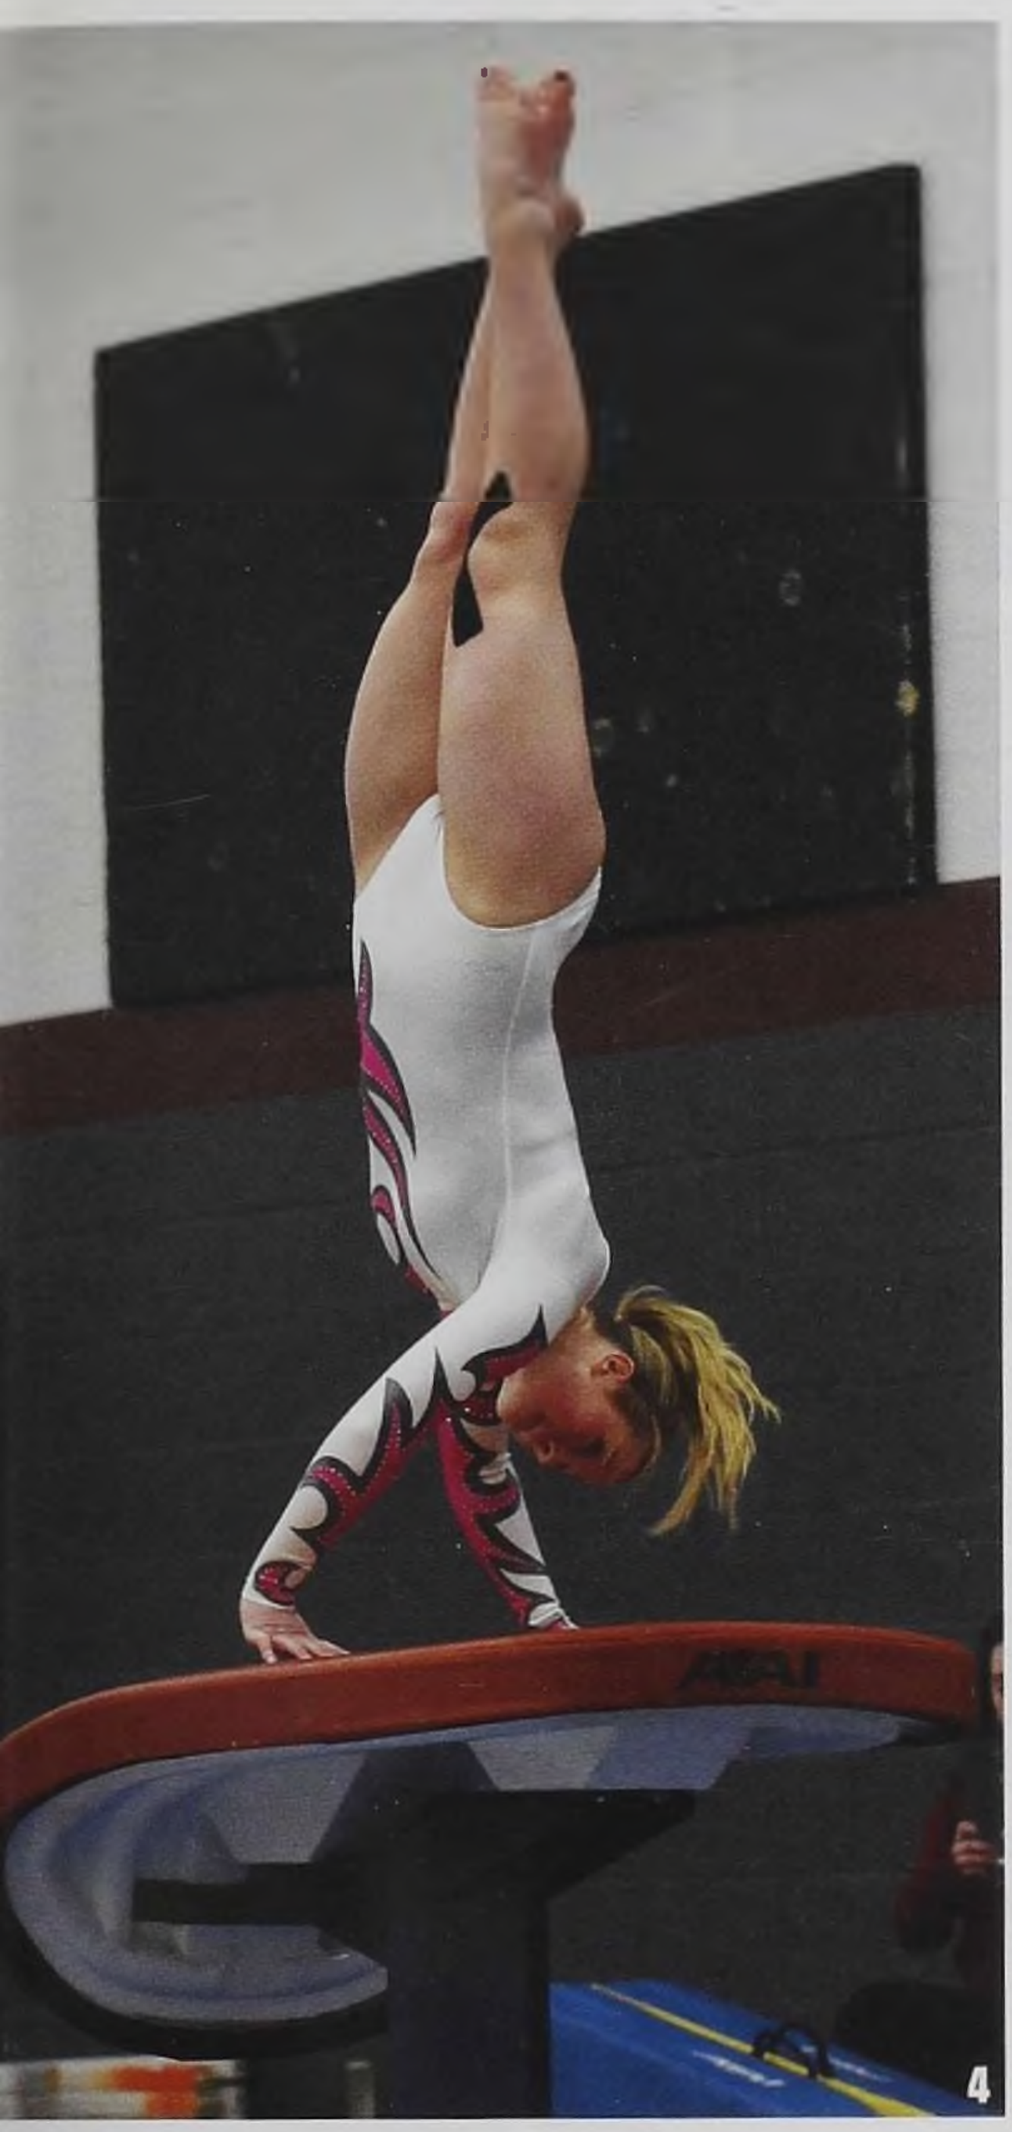
Eat. Sleep. Suplex. Repeat. This was a credence our Red Devil wrestling team knew all too well. While this sport had no ball to throw, catch or shoot, the skill set one must learn to compete at a high level was grueling. Whether it was a strict diet of water and leafy greens to make weight, afternoons lifting in the weight room to build muscle, or hours on the mat learning holds, no one trained harder then these athletes. "Nine years ago I tried every sport you can think of, but none of them clicked like wrestling did," said senior Colton Cummings. "There is no better feeling than when you win a match and score a point for your team." Even though matches are fought individually, wrestling is still a very team orientated sport. "We watch each other's matches and practices and talk a lot of strategy with each other. Sometimes my teammates see a weakness that I missed," said Colton. On or off the mat, it was clear that these athletes worked hard to keep a winning attitude all the time.

6. Sophomore Richard Bisping chooses the down position going into second period. He was competing in his weight class during the Gary Burtheart Invite at Hobart 7. Lucas Scott (11) circles the mat, ready to take down his opponent. He went on to win the match. 8. Andres Moreno (10) wrestles at LHS during Conference. He took his opponent down with a cross body ride. 9. Shawn Hollis (9) tries to turn his Hobart opponent to win the match. He was competing in a finals match for his weight class at Conference.

Balancing ACTS

Whether it was on the balance beam, uneven bars, vault, or doing their floor routine, this year's gymnastics team did better than ever. Their mantra was " She believed she could...so she did," which meant a lot to every girl on the team. The girls received a fifth place trophy at the Merrillville Invitational and started the season with the same score they ended with last year, only getting better as the season went on. Jordan Morache (12) has been a gymnast the past four years. "For me personally, it's a stress reliever. I go to gymnastics every day and I forget about everything that happened that day and focus on getting better at the skills I want to have and the skills I already have." Senior Hope Poortenga had her best season and scored high at every meet. "Being a senior, it's taught me to push as hard as I can because it's my last year competing as a gymnast." Five seniors are leaving, but the upcoming gymnasts have a lot of potential and look forward to next season.

1. Chance Morfoot (12) holds her balance during a back handspring on the beam. She received a score of 9.1, which was one of the highest scores on beam this year. 2. Jordan Morache (12) finishes up a tumbling pass during her floor routine. She has been on the team all four years of high school. 3. Hope Poortenga (12) does her front pass, which was in the middle of her floor routine. This was the first time she ever scored a 9.0 on floor and one of her best seasons as a gymnast.



4. Loren Streeter (12) hits the spring board and poses perfectly in the air during her vault. She worked hard throughout the season to keep her arms straight in this specific event. 5. Alexis Ratkay (9) does a back walkover on the balance beam. This was her first year and first time competing on a high school team. 6. Nicole Russnak (10) performs a dance move on the balance beam. It took a lot of courage since it was her first year competing. 7. Olivia Bikoff (9) does a kip on the uneven bars while doing her routine. This was one of her best events for her first year on the team. 8. Erin Brown (12) performs her down during her beam routine. She was one of the team captains along with Hope Poortenga.

1. The cheerleaders shop at Target for the kids they picked from the angel tree during the holidays. This was the third year and was now a tradition for them. 2. The JV cheerleaders perform a chant during a basketball game. They stood on the sidelines and cheered the team on. 3. The cheerleaders do a quarter cheer in between quarters of a basketball game. Their enthusiasm made for a lot of school spirit. 4. Kelsey Smock (10), Loren Streeter (12), and Brylee Carter (10) chant a catchy phrase to encourage the athletes. They waved their pom-poms to make their cheers more exciting. 5. The cheerleaders show off their competition cheer to the student section. They were in two man libs and loved showing off their hard work. 6. Chance Morfoot (12) is held in the air preparing to do a high to high. They had to practice and work hard to perform such great stunts.

CAN'T HEAR YOUR Pride

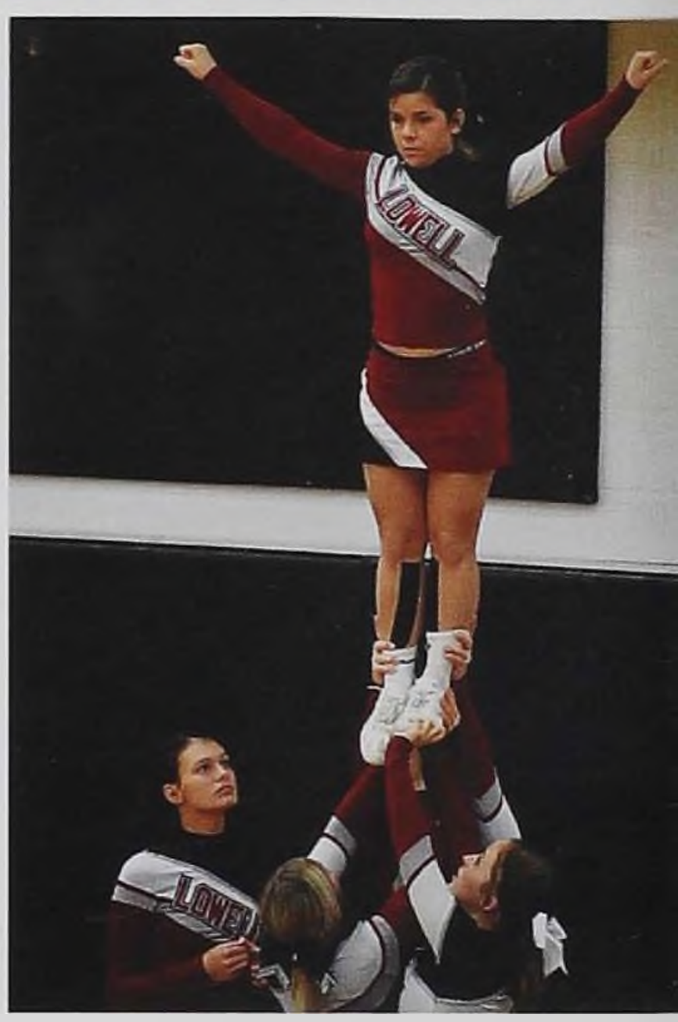
The cheerleaders didn't start the winter season off the way they had planned. "Going into the season, we were all bummed and disappointed about how our fall season played out, but we soon were right back to how we began, having fun, laughing, and trying out new things every practice. We made it our goal to enjoy every moment we had left together this season, and we did. I wouldn't trade this team's bond for the world," said sophomore Anna Nichols. The cheerleaders were closer this year than they had ever been before and considered each other family. The team had enough enthusiasm and school spirit to last forever. The cheerleaders cheered at every home basketball game for both the boys and girls teams. They were in charge of getting the crowds excited about every game and encouraging the athletes to win every game. They jumped, flipped, tumbled and cheered to get everyone's energy up. They would practice two to three times a week, working hard to perfect their stunts and routines. They ended the season cheering at sectionals and as close as ever.



we PREPARE... you PERFORM

By Emily Watkins

When most people go to a sporting event for our Red Devil athletes, they usually only think about the athletes and the cheerleaders. People might not realize it, but what goes on behind the scenes is just as important. The athletic trainers also play a big role in sports games and in practices. They work hard to wrap up injuries and roll out tight muscles so athletes are ready to play without injury. So, the next time you go to a game, don't forget to think about the athletic trainers and how no game would be the same without them.

1. Karoline Chraponski (12) rolls out an athlete's calf before practice. This was done to all athletes when their muscles were tight or had a cramp. 2. Lindsey Chraponski (10) tapes up an athlete's wrist. It helped to avoid further injury during practice and games. 3. Margaret Stein (10) gives an athlete ankle support by taping it. This was done to prevent injury. 4. Zachary Garcia (10) stretches out sophomore Cameron Sopovski's shoulder to get him ready for play. This was his first season as an athletic trainer. 5. Hannah Henderson (10) and Karoline Chraponski (12) tape up student athletes before practice. They worked together to help the athletes avoid injury. 6. Lindsey Chraponski (10) stretches Lorenzo Schneider (9) before wrestling practice. She did this to help him stretch his hamstrings out so he could do his best.

hockey isn't just for boys

Madilynn Hickey (10) was a young female hockey player who played for the Orland Park Vikings. She picked up hockey from her older cousins who also played. With her team, she competed in tournaments around some of the northern states like Wisconsin and Minnesota. Madilynn competed in many different tournaments such as Ignite the Ice and the Bauer World Invite. She was hoping to find a boarding school and a college to play hockey at to further her career.

Thomas Larkin (11) was a student who wanted everyone to see the world the way he saw it and the way he captured it's beauty. He was able to do this by taking photos with his Canon T3i, although his favorite camera was the Miranda Sensorex. Thomas liked photographing animals, landscapes, and macro shots. Aside from the natural world, Thomas enjoyed taking photos of friends. He took wedding photos and seniors photos for donations and hoped to make a side business out of his favorite hobby.

MADELINE BOGATHY...

art across many forms

Madeline Bogathy (11) was a young artist who shared her creativity across many art forms. Some of the ways Madeline expressed herself included painting, drawing, sculpting, makeup and photography. Madeline worked on short films such as "No Flash Photography" by doing special effects. She was inspired by the show "Face Off" and ever since she has been creating creature masks. Madeline was inspired by the everyday things in her life.

Members of the boys varsity tennis team celebrate after their matches. They competed at the Crawfordsville Invite.

Joshua Henson (11) plays the mellophone while marching on the field at halftime. This year's show was "Spy Games."

Emily Evans (12) sits on the steps of a historical building in downtown Indianapolis. She was there after a college visit to IUPUI.

Rebecca Karstensen and Jodie James (12) pose for a picture together at the Distinguished Young Women pageant. Rebecca was last year's winner and Jodie won this year.

Fernando Rosas (11) runs a 5K race at the Hebron Invite. This was his third year on the team but first full year since he split it with soccer his previous years.

Players stand on the sidelines of a varsity football game cheering their team on. Friday night games were very popular in the town of Lowell.

Erin Brown (12) and Vincent Perez (12) walk down the middle of the football field. They were nominated as Homecoming Queen and King.

Mr. Garling's Horticulture class shows off their poinsettias. They were planted at the beginning of the school year in time for the holidays.

ADVICE TO BETTER YOUR journey THROUGH HIGH SCHOOL

"Take in the four years, because it will be over before you know it!"

- Sarah Kroll

"You'll never please everyone, so learn to please yourself first."

- Karoline Chraponski

"Although not all assignments seem relevant, in the end there is a point to everything that you do in high school."

- Mitchell Sacco

"Stay focused but have fun. Don't get caught up in the stress because these are simply the best four years of your life."

- Kevin Browne

"Take the classes your interested and push for what you want, try your hardest and do as many extra curricular activities as you can and don't be afraid to try something new."

- Destiny Asbell

CLASS OF 2017

"Appreciate every opportunity high school offers, whether it be good or bad, because before you know it you're a second semester senior cherishing those opportunities that will soon be memories!"

- Emily Crouch

"Whatever rough times you are going through, just know it gets better because after every rain storm, there's a rainbow."

- Andrew Kirin

"Do what you love; what's the point of life if it doesn't mean anything to you?"

- Ryan VanDrunen

"Have fun while it lasts!"

- Bradley Schroeder

"Be you! Whoever accepts you will accept you for you and not someone who's fake."

- Sara Townsley

"Try your hardest, take school seriously and don't care what people think."

- Emilee Kathcart

"Make sure you take the time to enjoy the little moments and think about how far you have come. Do that and you'll see that those moments, even the harder moments, have made you, you."

- Allison Foor

"Always make decisions that would be jointly beneficial to you in both now and the future. Enjoying life is just as important as being successful."

- Tyler Alvarez

LETTER FROM THE EDITOR:

Hello! I am the Editor in Chief for this year's edition of the Lowellian yearbook. Not only am I honored to acquire this role, but incredibly eager to take on the year with my fellow staff, in order to produce a superb product for my peers. My job includes, but is not limited to, managing the publication's overall content and quality, a staff of peers, overseeing design and establishing deadlines. With my passion and two years of experience under my wing, I hope you'll enjoy the outcome as much as we enjoyed creating it.

Spring 2017

Our journey through...

SPRING

1. Britney Rosenbrock (12) jumps in the air as she enjoys being at the beach. She spent her spring break in Gulf Shores, Alabama with close family and friends. 2. Ashlynn Slivka (11) hangs out with a lemur while at the beach. She visited Ft. Lauderdale during spring break. 3. Mackenzie Iles (11) Julia Justice (12) Lynsey Snodgrass (12) and Breyona Rent (11) smile for a picture before going out to Captiva Island to celebrate Julia's 18th birthday. They went on vacation to Fort Myers, Florida. 4. Karoline Chraponski (12) and sister Lindsey Chraponski (11) pose for a pic on the beaches of St. Augustine, FL. They spent their spring break relaxing on the beach and in the sun. 5. Alexis Salazar (11) takes a picture with her mom by the Statue of Liberty. They spent their time in New York City shopping and sight seeing. 6. A group of students pose for a picture during the annual school trip, which was in Washington D.C. this year. They took a tour of the Capital Building and then went to the National Archive to see the Constitution. 7. Karoline Chraponski (12) Bailey Janovick (11) Caleb Cataldo (12) Lindsey Chraponski (11) and Skylar Cebra (12) pose for a picture on the beach in St. Augustine, Florida. It was a much needed vacation away from Indiana's crazy weather.

Spring Getaways

Spring break 2017 was a great time for most students at LHS. They got a week off with little responsibility and not a care in the world. Some students traveled to warmer weather and some stayed in Lowell, but everyone was smiling and happy to have a break. Those who ventured south made their way to theme parks or to the white sand beaches in Florida. For those who stayed home, they enjoyed time with friends and family. Either way, spring break was one of those moments during the school year where students relaxed, but the week flew by too fast. The good thing was that it meant there were only two more months of school until students were out for Summer Break!

Get ready to...

Dodgeball!

By: Alexis Salazar

This year was the thirteenth annual Dodgeball Tournament put on by Mr. Gianotti. This school event is hosted every year as a fundraiser for all of the academic teams at Lowell High School. Students from every grade not only participated in the dodgeball tournament, they also came to watch and support the players. This year some of the teachers played alongside students and even their own kids. It's a great way to bring students and teachers closer together, not to mention the ability to fairly hit one another. Awards were given to certain people on different teams, whether it was for Most Valuable Player, Best Outfit or Outstanding Sportsmanship. This year's champions consisted of Zack Cory (10), Michael Langen (10), Ethan Igras (10), Hayden Ingram (11), and Steven Fadke (10).

1. Two teams huddle together in the middle of the pit before the beginning of the match. The referee explained the rules of the game to each player. 2. Mr. Hudak and Mr. Lukasik prepare to win as they get ready to throw balls at their opponents. They were on a team with other teachers as well. 3. A team waits patiently for the game to start. They were dressed up as "nerds." 4. Austin Lindzy (12) prepares to throw a ball at people on the opposing team. This was his fourth year playing in the tournament. 5. Two teams wait patiently for Mr. Gianotti to say "Get ready to dodgeball!" They ran to the middle of the court and grabbed as many balls as they could to take out the other team. 6. Zack Cory (10) catches his breath while his team works hard to win the game. He dodged many balls that night and came out as a champ. 7. Madison Borrero (12) throws a ball to hit an opponent. Madison was the only one from her team left on the court. 8. Cory Breault (11) and Zachary Thomas (11) wait patiently to dodge a ball. They played very well that night. 9. Seniors Paige Kien and Karley Hon pose for a picture at the end of the tournament. They won trophies for outstanding sportsmanship.

Pippin: his journey is ours

1. The entire Pippin cast opens the show singing "Magic to Do." Brooke Schrombeck (11) took the lead introducing the life of Pippin and other cast members. 2. Lauren Cruz (9), who plays Catherine's son, introduces his duck named Auto to Pippin. This lovable boy and lovable duck duo worked to try and get Pippin out of bed. 3. Grandma Berthe, Leading Player and Fastrada take a dance break during the war. Maiah Koslovsky (11), Brooke Schrombeck (11), and Elizabeth Atchley (11) danced while the rest of the cast was at war. 4. Brooke Schrombeck (11) and Jacob Modjeski (12) stand upon the platform above the firebox. The Leading Player tried to convince Pippin to jump into the firebox as the grand finale.

5. Pippin found his way to Catherine after not knowing what he wants his life to become. Payton Leoni (11) tried to give Jacob Modjeski (12) a meaning to his life, and also get help around her estate. 6. Lewis and Fastrada stand by King Charlemagne at the throne awaiting decrees of people from the kingdom before going to war. Elizabeth Atchley (11) waited to send her son Jordan Harris (10) and husband Andrew Kirin (12) off to war. 7. Jacob Modjeski (12), Payton Leoni (11) and Lauren Cruz (9) stand as a family. Pippin protected what became his family, who showed him what was important in his life.

Pippin was this year's spring musical, which was directed by Mallory Swisher and Patrice Martin. Having a live pit band and a great cast and crew made for an amazing show. This show was like no other because it was a musical inside a play. Jacob Modjeski (12) played Pippin and put his heart and soul into the role since it was his last at LHS. Along with Jacob, Andrew Kirin (12), Brooke Schrombeck (11), Elizabeth Atchley (11), Payton Leoni (11), Jordan Harris (10) and Lauren Cruz (9) all had major roles in the show, implementing how the story unfolded. The show opened with the song "Magic to Do" where the entire cast was on stage introducing the story of Pippin. The cast and crew worked for ten weeks to prepare for the show. The most daunting task for the crew was the fire box. "The fire box was the most difficult part. Paint, props, construction and cast had to work together to get the fire box just right," said crew member Joshua Converse (10), "Elizabeth Atchley (11) had to jump into the box for the finale, and although making the box wasn't easy, it was fun to work with other crew to make what was one of the best set pieces." All in all, the cast, crew and pit band put on an amazing show. The audience had all eyes on the stage at all times.

1. Karoline Chraponski (12) and Lillian Auguano (11) take a picture after the game. Lillian was one of the players in the Special Olympics basketball game. 2. James Price (12) holds onto the basketball while taking a breather. The team played against West Lake and the theme was "Smile, Shine, Take it One Day at a Time." 3. Everyone involved with the Earth Day celebration stands for a picture. While it was hard work, they enjoyed cleaning up the school grounds.

No challenge too Big
No victory too Small

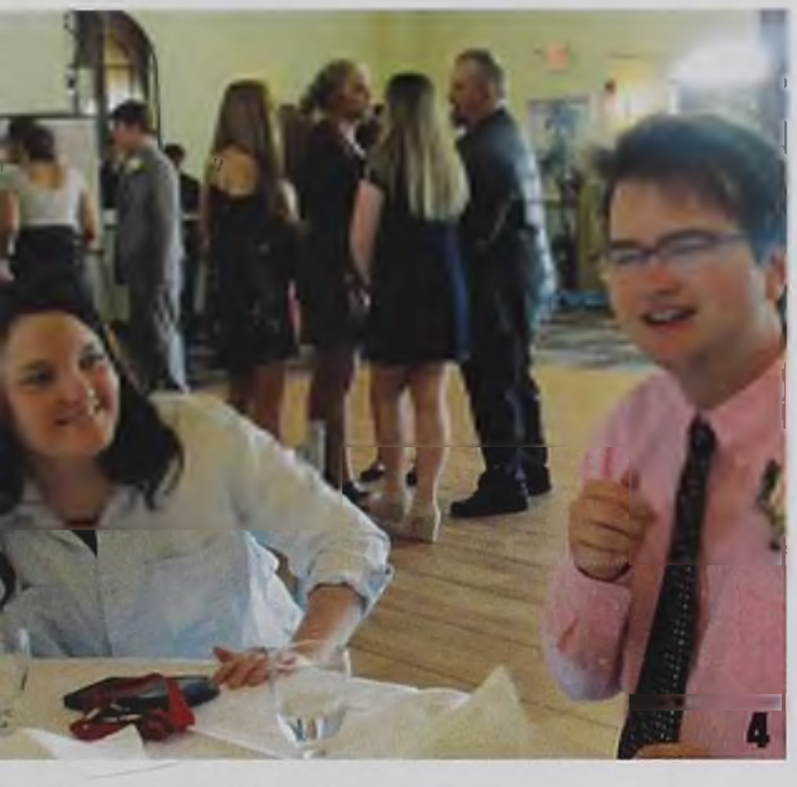
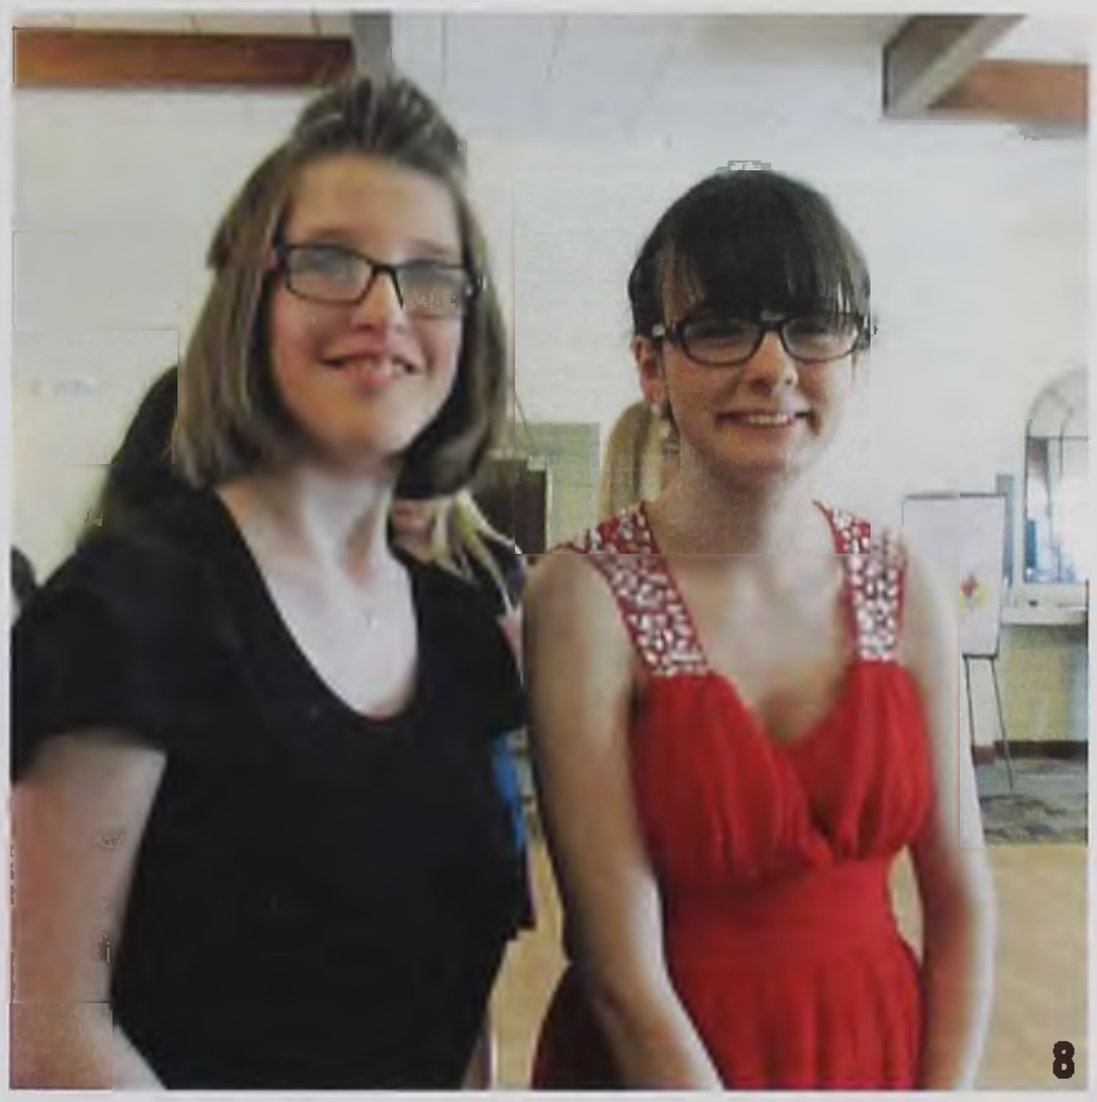
They say that a person's character is shown through actions. If that's true, then the Lowell High School Special Education classes have some of the best people in the world. Not only have the students in these classes participated in sporting events, they have also done work that has impacted the environment, such as cleaning up outside the school for Earth Day. They also potted bedding plants for Mother's Day with Mr. Garling's Horticulture class. Besides these good deeds, the students have done something just as important, if not more. They have inspired those around them, showing others lessons in compassion, acceptance, and even how to have fun. Life is an adventure, and the Special Education classes always know how to have a great time!



4. Kyle Greer (12) and Ashlin Elder (12) had fun sitting by the dance floor. All of the students enjoyed the festivities. 5. Everyone involved with the Special Olympic game takes a picture together in "The Pit." The game was a lot of fun and the students had a lot of cheering fans. 6. Joshua Kozlowski (10) and his mom enjoy the atmosphere at their table. Every person at the dance dressed to impress. 7. Lillian Auguano (11) helps out with some Earth Day activities. Lillian has always been an active student.



8. Nichole Gregory (11) and Ashley Dollins (10) give big smiles for the camera. Both girls looked beautiful in their dresses. 9. James Price (12) and Rachel Hackett (8) get their pictures in the prom lobby. The couple was very popular at the dance. 10. Sara Townsley (12) and Kate Aguilar (11) pose with a cut out at the Special Needs Prom. The cut outs were made especially for the prom.

LOWELL'S GOT talent

This year Lowell's Got Talent was a big success with a variety of students from every grade doing all different kinds of talents. There were four different categories consisting of Singing, Dance, Singing and Playing, and Musical. After everyone performed, the five judges deliberated and the Viewers Choice money was counted. In the Singing category Danyelle Grossman (11) won with her rendition of "Girl Crush." In the Dance category, Nathan Cubit (9) won with his freestyle dancing. The winner of Singing and Playing went to Brooke Schrombeck (11) for playing the piano and singing "Jason's Song (Gave it Away)," and the winner of the Musical category was Robert Rose (12) playing the Xylophone to the song "Through the Fire and Flames." Lowell's Got Talent was a great way to witness the talent that Lowell students have to offer. "LGT was a fun and exciting experience. I loved being apart of the show for my senior year and think all the other performers did amazing," said senior Emily Crouch.

1. For Viewers Choice, family and friends were able to put money into the jar of their favorite act. The act with the most money won the award. 2. Emily Crouch (12) sings "I Hope You Dance" in the Singing category. This was her first year in the talent show. 3. Seniors Sara Townsley and Jacob Modjeski sing "Gravity" as a duet. They were the only duet in the competition. 4. Robert Rose (12) plays the xylophone along with the song "Through the Fire and Flames" by Dragonforce. He won in the Musical category."

5. Hosts Liam Collins (10), Cedric Caschetta (11), Jayce Lillibridge (12) and Teagan Murphy (12) pose for a picture after the show. They put a lot of hard work into keeping the audience engaged throughout the show. 6. Brooke Schrombeck (11) plays the piano and sings "Jason's Song (Gave it Away)." She won in the Singing and Playing category. 7. Unconcsious Beauty jams out to Avenge Sevenfold's song "Coming Home." The band was made up of seniors Andrew Kirin, Jacob Modjeski, and Ryan VanDrunen. 8. The Lowellian yearbook staff take a picture after the show. Their hard work paid off because the show was very successful. 9. Lauren Ritter (10) plays the song "England" on the piano from the game HetaOni. She has been playing the piano for almost eight years. 10. Kristin Newlin (11) sings "True Colors." She was accompanied on the piano by junior Payton Leoni. 11. Jacob Modjeski (12) sings "I Want You" by Luke James. He was a fan favorite and performed four different times during the show.

A DARK KNIGHT

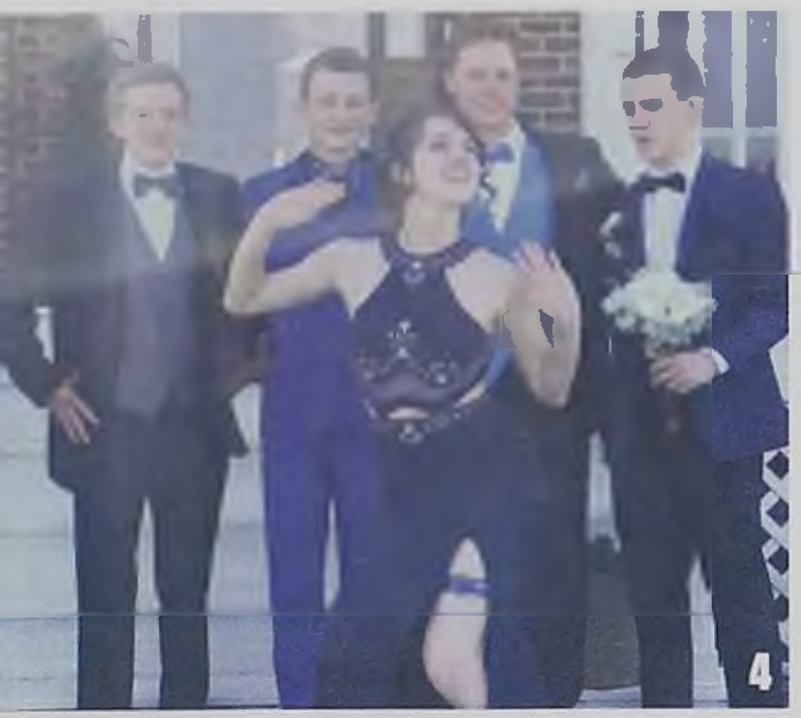
Prom is the one special night that most high school students wait for during the entire school year. It's the night everyone anxiously counted down the days for. A night of formal dresses, dancing, and a night in the city. Promgoers were full of excitement and couldn't wait for the night to begin. As six o'clock rolled around, students began arriving at St. Peter and Paul Banquet Hall. They found that the room had been transformed into a cityscape with a hint of superheroes for the theme "A Dark Knight." After dinner started, the long night of dancing and picture taking began. Half way through the night, Prom King and Queen were announced. This year's Prom King was Trevor Espravnik and the Prom Queen was Teagan Murphy. The unforgettable night went by way too fast and now it's just a night to remember forever.



3. Seniors Adam Joseph and Adam Sczurko make a heart around their dates. They had an amazing time at their senior prom. 4. Senior Isabella Iurillo poses in front of her group. Isabella attended her senior prom with her date, Jacob Cummins (11). 5. Jacob Sankowski (11) and Steven LaCosse (11) do a funny pose for the camera. They have been best friends since fifth grade. 6. A group of Juniors and Seniors smile as they do the typical pose for the camera. The group PROMised to have a wonderful night with their friends.

7. Lilliana Terry (11) and Maxwell Dooge (11) laugh as they pose for a picture of Lilliana showing off her garter. The couple said they had an unforgettable night. 8. Juniors Kaitlynn Tropsic, Jenna Beck, Haley Penman, Genevieve Grah, and Gabriela Malave take one of many pictures before heading to prom. Each girl held up the letter that contributed to the spelling of "PROM."

Promposals

Caleb Cataldo (12) asks Karoline Chraponski to prom using a ticket from the Criminal Justice class. They went to prom as best friends.

Teddy Hughes (11) asks Ashlynn Slivka (11) to prom using pictures of the couple spelled out in the word "PROM." He hung them in his room and surprised her with flowers and balloons.

Ronald Bergstrom (11) asks Kaitlynn Tropsic (11) to Prom on home plate. He wrote yes one one softball and no other the other and she had to hit the answer.

SPORTS

A Quarter to Eight

As soon as the starter's gun goes off, athletes run anywhere from 100 meters to two miles, a quarter of the track to eight laps. Boys track began with an exciting indoor season. While most indoor meets are not scored, Lowell performed well in many races along with field events, including several indoor school records. Athletes were able to compete at the Maverick Hoosier State Relay Qualifier, which allowed several athletes to compete in the Hoosier State relay indoor state meet. Outdoor season was filled with many accomplishments. The team beat every school except Munster in regular season. They went on to place second at Conference. During the post season, Hunter Boyer (12) and Alec Fleming (11) ran the 3200m at State while the 4 by 800 team of Gabriel Sanchez (9), Lucas Fontanez (12), Dustin Hudak (10), and Fernando Rosas (11) competed at state.

1. Chris Bozak (9) get ready at the starting blocks before a 4 by 100 meter race. Chris had an impressive season competing in many short distance events along with long jump.
2. Lucas Fontanez (12) steps up to the line for the 4 by 800 meter relay. Lucas' team went on to win the relay, Lucas having the third fastest time.
3. Tyler Wildman crossing the line at Lowell Relays in the sprint medley relay. Sprint medley relays are only ran certain invitationals and include a 100m, 100m, 200m, and a 400m.

4. Lucas Finger (12) glides over the pole in pole vault during a dual meet with Munster. Lucas came within a foot of the school record and set a personal record for him. 5. Tucker Greenholt (11) jumping an impressive distance of 19' 6". Tucker was the lead long jumper, jumping in most of the varsity meets. 6. Caleb Chapman (11) lapping the competition during the Distance Medley Relay. Caleb ran in several medleys for the 1600m, being Lowell's top miler. 7. Fernando Rosas (11) neck and neck in the distance medley relay. Distance medley relays are only ran certain invitationals and include a 1200m, 400m, 800m, and a 1600m.

Track Blues

Typically, the "blues" means times of sadness, but in track blue is the color of winning, and the Lowell girls know a lot about that. The girls had an impressive season winning every dual meet against conference schools except versus Munster, along with Lowell Relays. They competed in many unscored meets such as the Dick Deardurff Invitational, where there were impressive performances from athletes in many events such as the 800m, 1600m, 3200m, 100m hurdles and 300m hurdles. Gabrielle Alessia (11) competed in regionals for the 300m hurdles along with Anna Bender (10), and Jessica Mescal (11) in the 3200m, Tanner Greenholt (9) in shot put, and the girls 4 by 800m team of Jordyn Boyer (10), Claire Mitsch (10), Olivia McCauley (9), and Alexia Bibakis (9). Annalise James (10) moved onto state in the 1600m and 800m, while Jordyn Boyer qualified in the 3200m.

1. Jessie Mescal (11) runs the 800 in the DMR. Distance medley relays are only ran at certain invitationals and include a 1200m, 400m, 800m, and 1600m. 2. Autumn Fleming (9), Lindsey Lee (9), and Kara Katic (10) run the mile at a dual meet versus Griffith and Munster. Dual meets were crucial in the process of winning conference. Emma Carrillo (9) leaps over the high jump pole. Emma, along with Zea Green (9), were Lowell's high jumping duo.

By: Alec Fleming

4. Sarah Richardson (10) clears 15'6" at the Lowell Relays. Sarah got first at that competition and had a personal best of 16'3". 5. A group of girls huddle together before a meet. Teamwork was essential in track to score well and achieve good times. 6. Michelle Harmstron squares up on the starting blocks before the 4 by 100 meter relay. Michelle competed in the 4 by 100 relay at sectionals on a team that placed 6th. 7. Annalise James (10) runs the 1200m during the Distance Medlay relay race. Annalise's team took first with a time of 13:42.

1. Nathaniel Buss (12) winds up for a pitch. He was a pitcher all four years of high school. 2. Scott Karras (12) runs back to catch a fly ball. He played outfield for most of his baseball career. 3. Kevin Browne (12) approaches home plate prior to his at bat. He played both infield and outfield during his time on the Red Devils.

HEY Batter Batter!

When you are on a team consisting of many other boys, you have no other choice than to grow together and become brothers. After losing a few games during the season, the boys still remained strong and played their best. "This year's baseball season has been up and down, but fun nonetheless," said senior Kevin Browne. The boys baseball teams have made it more competitive, learning to throw different pitches, how to bunt, and perfect base running skills. After a long season of baseball, the seniors were ready to take the team home. "I will miss playing with senior class. It was a great ride," said senior Johnathan Cory.

4. Alex Dobrzeniecki (12) delivers a pitch to the plate. He has been a pitcher all four years of high school. 5. Johnathan Cory (12) makes contact with the ball. It was a hard fought battle against Highland. 6. Bailey Laumeyer (12) fields a ground ball. He was attempting to throw the runner out at first. 7. Noah Hofmann (12) takes a big swing and hits the ball far. They won the game against Munster.

1. Hailey Boylan (11) catches the ball as she plays the catcher position. She was confident in her skills. 2. Jayden Belcher (11) swings to make contact with the ball. This was her first year on the varsity team. 3. Kendal Torrence (12) throws a strike as she pitches the ball. Lowell won 1-0 against Crown Point. 4. Delany Huber (9), Kendal Torrence (12), Ryleigh Marsh (9), Hailey Boylan (11), and Haley Penman (11) takes a group shot. They were celebrating the first game of the season. 5. Coach Charters gives the team a pep talk while in time out. It made the team more confident in their next move. 9. Alyssa Sharkey (11) gets ready to catch the ball since it was the only base runner to reach third. Alyssa made sure the Crown Point did not score. 10. Haven Stanley (9) pitches against Griffith. She was throwing fast and hard to get every batter out. 11. Gabrielle Malave (11) takes her stances as she waits for the ball to come off the bat. She played first base the entire season for the Lady Red Devils.

SWING FOR THE fences

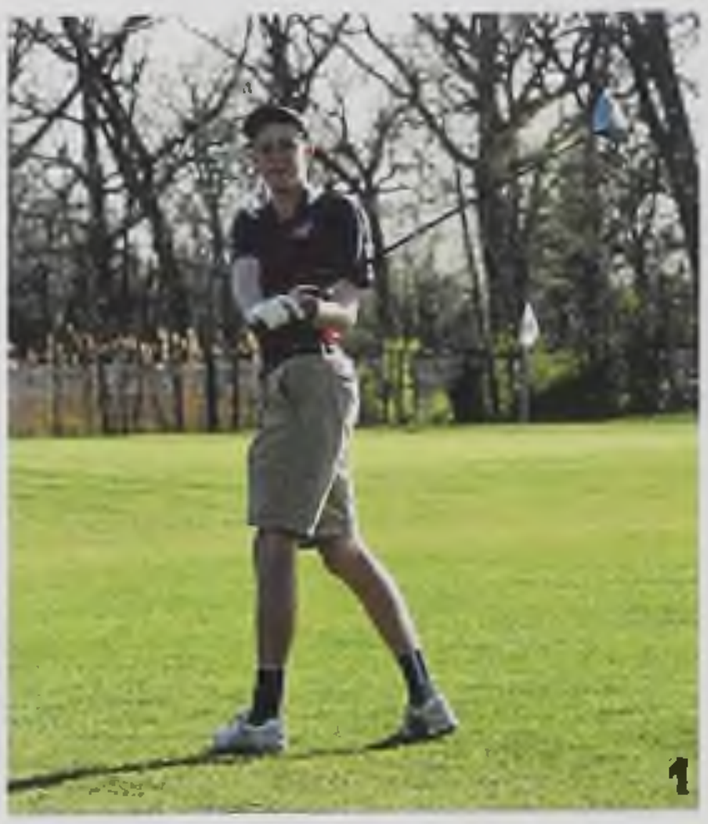
This spring, the softball team had a better season then previous years. "Compared to last season, it was a really good one. Our record of 16-10 even shows it," said senior Kendal Torrence. The girls tried their hardest to hit the ball, make plays, and work together as a team. Most importantly of all, they had fun and enjoyed the season. The Lady Red Devils played their hearts out to try and have the best season possible. They encouraged each other on and off the field. During games, players in the dugout stood cheering on their fellow players to try their hardest in the game. With only one senior on the team, the returning players plan on working hard next season.



1. Luke Ryder (11) hits his second shot and aims for the green. He had a successful season overall. 2. Kyle Molden (11) studies the green to make an attempt at his putt. This was his third year on the team. 3. Chandler Austgen (10) putts the ball toward the hole. He continued to work on his technique throughout the season. 4. Daniel Fleming (12) hits his iron into the green. He made the putt. 5. Austin Lindzy (12) tees off with lots of power. He continued to improve on his yardage. 6. Austin Lindzy (12) and Daniel Fleming (12) talk strategy. They attempted to put it directly into the upcoming hole.

Driving it in for a Win

The boys golf team had a pretty successful season. They had a solid team that did great things when playing well. "I have a love/hate relationship with golf, but overall it has been a great experience to be apart of for the past four years. I was lucky enough to play on a great team along with great people. I hope to continue playing this sport in college, and I hope to earn my professional golfing license after college," said senior Austin Lindzy. When it comes to golfing, the mental aspect of it helps a lot between being mentally strong and knowing what to do in specific situations when you're on the course. The team definitely used that to their advantage. Everyone on the team won individually, and the team won quite a few matches during their season and played well at sectionals.

Going Nowhere but Up

The 2017 season was a successful one for the girl's tennis team. They won a total of five matches and did very well in sectionals. "I've only been playing tennis for two years, but in those two years I feel like I've grown as both a person and a player," said Madison Berbig (10). The team became more like a family over the season. "Our team is closer than ever. I feel like we had a very successful season. I wouldn't have wanted to spend it with anyone else," said Margaret Stein (10). There was a lot of talent and passion on the court and every player displayed their best efforts in the game.

In loving memory of...

JACOB BERGONIA

January 10, 2001 - May 26, 2017

"Please always stay smiling, please always look after me and everyone that love you, please always stay shredding." - Derek Govert

"From the trouble we stirred up in grade school, to the laughs and long talks we had in high school, you were and always will be my hero and I can never forget that. I know you will be watching over and laughing along with me for the future to come. Rest easy Jake." - Gage Torres

"I didn't know you long, but we became close fast. Fly high brother." - Andrew Kish

"I didn't know you very much until this year, but I am glad I got to know you. Some things we will never forget and I am blessed to say that you were apart of my life." - McKenna Moll

"Thank you for all the memories throughout the years. You will be extremely missed by all." - Brittany Kish
